RUSSIA has vaunted her superiority in civilization over Turkey. In a curious pamphlet, entitled "Les Ottomans et les Moscovites," just published in Paris, the author compares the past history of Turkey with that of Russia, and the treatment of the Christians by the Turks with that of the Poles by the Russians, and argues by numerous quotations from books and newspapers published in Turkey and Russia, that the preponderance of civilization has always been on the side of the former power. Among the arguments brought forward is one that there are relatively more schools in Turkey than in Russia. This singular fact is confirmed by the Moscow Gazette. In a recent number of that journal it is stated that "of all the countries in Europe, without exception, Russia is that where the least is done for the instruction of the people. According to statistical reports, Turkey, with a population of twenty-five millions, had, in 1865, 16,000 schools, visited by 600,000 children. In Russia, with a population treble that of Turkey, there are only 20,000 schools, with from 800,000 to 900,000 pupils."

MR. THEODORE PARKER once remarked that a rich man in Boston could not die respected, unless in his will he devoted a large proportion of his estate to educational or charitable purposes. Two recent instances in point fall under our eyes.

The will of THOMAS BULLFINCH, late of Boston, has been admitted to probate. Its private bequests are numerous. The public bequests are: To the Boston Society of Natural History, $20,000; to the Temporary Home for the Destitute, $10,000; to the Boston Dispensary, $20,000; to the Sailors' Snug Harbor, $30,000; to the Howard Benevolent Society, $20,000; to the Boston Provident Association, $10,000; to the Home for Aged Men, $30,000. He also leaves $50,000 to found a Latin Professorship in Harvard College.

The will of JAMES HAYWARD, late of Boston, also contains many liberal public bequests. The American Unitarian Society received $20,000; Harvard College $20,000 for the Astronomical Observatory; and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, $20,000.

MR. ROBERT OULD, late rebel Commissioner of Exchange, reiterates his statement that in 1864 he offered to deliver up fifteen thousand sick and wounded Union prisoners without an equivalent; and that it was not until December of that year that the United States authorities sent three thousand rebel prisoners to the mouth of the Savannah river, and received thirteen thousand Union soldiers in exchange. He calls upon Gen. MULFORD to sustain his statement. When the House of Representatives instructed its Committee to inquire into the treatment Union prisoners received at the hands of the Confederates, its authority should have been so far enlarged as to have covered full investigation on both sides. So much was due to the truth of history. All the essential facts will ultimately appear, and the sooner the better.

THE presence of the cholera at Fort Harker and various other points in the far West, on the line of the Pacific Railroad, seems to confirm, in a measure, the theory that the turning up of the soil generates the disease. Dr. GALLAHER, of our City Council, has long adhered to the belief that digging sewers and turning up fresh earth, in Summer time, is prejudicial to health, and the cholera, following the line of the new road out West, seems to bear out his doctrine. The Chicago Journal thinks, however, the cause of the disease is poor water, badly prepared food, and the excessive use of bad liquors. The water used is impure surface water, filled with vegetable decomposition, and persons drinking much of it are invariably attacked with diarrhea.

IN accordance with a recently expressed intention, a Board of Commissioners has been organized at Philadelphia to prevent frauds upon the revenue. It is composed of persons holding office in Philadelphia under the General Government, and is as follows: Chas. Gilpin, United States District Attorney; Chambers M'Kibben, Assistant Treasurer; Henry R. Linderman, Director of the Mint, and Henry H. Bingham, Postmaster. The Board are instructed to organize and proceed to business at once. It cannot get to work a moment too soon, provided that when it starts it does its labor effectually. So many and gigantic frauds upon national revenue have in no other instance been endured, since governments were established among men.

MR. JOHN HICKMAN has consented to take a seat in the next Legislature, from Chester county, upon the explicit ground of Reform and opposition to Extra Pay which the members have been voting themselves and others for two years past.

Will Allegheny now bring forward candidates for the Assembly from among her ablest and purest men? If the Republican pilots are wise, and observe the aspect of the political heavens, they will take measures accordingly.

THE CROP prospects in Europe are fully as bright as our own. The English papers think the cereals of England will be unusually prolific. A large crop has been planted and sown in France and Germany, and there is now the largest stock of flour on hand in Paris ever known. The wheat growing regions of the Baltic will, it is believed, be able to export two million quarters this year.

A Strange Incident Among Immigrants.

[From the Milwaukee Wisconsin.]

On Sunday a steamboat load of Norwegian immigrants arrived in this city, fresh from the Faderlandt ayant the sea. Attending the arrival of these people there are always incidents which are worthy of a passing notice. The arrival of those on Sunday was no exception.

Among the immigrants was a Norwegian who was accompanied by two children, one about 12 and the other about 10 years of age. The man had come on with his little ones to seek a home in Minnesota. On the dock there were gathered a number of Norwegians who had lived here for a number of years, and who were ready to extend a welcome to those just seeking the shore. Among these was a woman who stood near the dock. She appeared to take little interest in the people as they came out from the boat, and the bustle attendant upon seeking for baggage and having it properly checqued to their new homes. Yet she cheerfully gave advice when it was asked for. She gave a glance at the immigrants as they came forth—just a glance to see if she knew the parties, and would then turn away. She had evidently satisfied her curiosity, and was about to turn away and go up South Water street, when her attention seemed rivited to the stranger and the two children spoken of. From a glance the look changed to one of earnestness for a moment, when she gave a slight scream as if of astonishment, and sprang forward. Grasping one of the children in her arms, she hugged it to her bosom and kissed it many times, and the second one she treated in the same manner. The children were surprised and began to cry. The woman tried to dry their tears and sobbed herself the while. Meanwhile the father of the children was attracted to the spot by the scene. He, too, was surprised. He looked at the children and then at the woman who was acting so strangely. Even in his eye a tear started. The children clung to his side, while the woman appeared very much abashed, but hung her head and sobbed loud enough for all to hear. In a few moments the man, leading the children one by each hand, took them to one corner of the shed which protects the immigrants, from the sun, and beckoned the woman to follow. In that corner the man and woman were engaged in earnest conversation for some moments, and when they came forth, the woman had dried up her tears and a smile had taken their place; the man, too, seemed happier than when he went forth. He searched around among his baggage, selecting it out and giving directions as to where it was to go with as happy a manner as if he had just found a fortune. The woman stood off one side, but she clung to the children as if she felt afraid they would be seperated from her. Naturally interested in what was going on, we inquired of our friend Paul Mondeau, who was making himself useful in getting the immigrants fixed out, and Paul soon found the story. The woman was the wife of the Norwegian and the mother of the two children. Some years before she had been led to leave her home and her husband and her babies, and fly with a stranger to this country. The new life soon lost its charms for her, and she was left alone to toil on. She supported herself here in the city by hard labor, and lived on, hoping, she hardly knew for what. Many bitter tears she had shed for her children, whom she did not believe she would ever meet again. Sunday morning she learned that a load of Norwegians was to come in, and she went down to the boat hoping, yet sacredly expecting, to meet somebody who could bring news of her husband and little ones. Instead, she met them. The husband was not loth to forgive—the woman was very anxious to be forgiven, and the hearts which but a few hours before had been filled with sadness were now made happy. The train which went to Minnesota last evening took the party, husband, wife and children, and a merry little party it was to all appearances. We do not believe there will be any more elopements in that family.

An Independent American Woman in Paris.

The curiosity of the cosmopolitan visitors to the Exhibition has been considerably excited during the past few days by the appearance there of a female dressed in an extraordinary costume, which very few of them recognize; sporting the very shortest of skirts, a mere apology for a skirt, about the same length (or rather brevity) of those worn by the Coryphees in the Biche aux Bois, ending considerable above the knee, and black cloth "continuations." "Dr." Mary Walker elbows her way through the crowd, exciting the laughter and sneers of her sisterhood, many of whom could well spare her some of their skirts, bedraggled in the mud and dust.

"Dr." Walker was present at the Fourth of July banquet at the Grand Hotel, where she was wrapped up a la Kirby in the American flag. She evidently wanted to make a speech, but would not be heard. She wears her medal voted her by the American Congress for brave womanly cares and attentions bestowed upon sick and wounded soldiers on the field and in the hospitals during the war, and for four months' martyrdom in the Libby prison. This medal has procured the "doctor" admission into the medical circles here, and given her, I am informed, great facilities for observation.

But "woman's rights" are by no means unknown in France. Cases of ladies receiving diplomas as "bachelors" of arts and letters are of annual occurrence, and Rosa Bonheur wears her ribbon of the Legion of Honor.

Another female who carries "Bloomerism" to even a greater extent than "Doctor" Walker has attracted no little attention at the Grand Hotel during the past week. She is very pretty, and dresses in the height of fashion—but it is "man" fashion, with the jauntiest little hat and the neatest fitting coat, with a rose always in one of its button-holes, tight vest, showing a fair development of chest, and tight pantaloons, with patent leather boots. This young female, whose dress and presence have horrified some of the more staid of her sex at the hotel, is an English girl and the companion of a noted London brewer, rather distinguished for his eccentricities, of which this is one.—Paris Correspondence of New York Herald.

The King of Prussia and the Gamblers.

The Figaro relates the following characteristic anecdote of the Prussian King:

The King had forbidden the Russian officers in garrison at Rastadt to gamble at the Baden tables, but more than one of them was often to be found in private dress among the group of players. One night a Russian officer risked a sovereign on the rogue. He won, left the two pieces, then four, then eight, and was about to draw his sixteen sovereigns when he perceived King William in front of him. What torture for a sub-lieutenant to see sixteen golden pieces before him and dare not touch them. The rogue continued to win, and the heap of gold having exceeded the maximum, the croupier cried out, "How much on the heap?" The officer, pale and trembling, had not the courage to reply; with one eye he looked at the King, and with the other at his gold. "How much on the heap?" again shouted the croupier. At this moment the King of Prussia came around the table and tapping the Lieutenant on the shoulder, said to him with that bonhommie, characteristic of his Majesty; "Come, take up your money and make yourself scarce before your superiors meet you." It is hardly necessary to say that the officer did not want to be told twice. Some time after the King reviewed the garrison at Rastadt, and perceiving the Lieutenant, made signs to him to approach. "Sir," said King William, "I caused you to lose some money the other day in interrupting your game. The rogue won three times after you left. You may draw the difference from my private exchequer, but beware that you do not commence again."

—Gail Hamilton has her opinion about those loveliest of her sex, hotel clerks. In her latest book the following passage occurs: "If ever the education of a soaring human boy be intrusted to my care, I will endeavor to model his manners on those of a clerk in a hotel. For conscious superiority, tempered with benevolence, and swathed in suavity; for perfect self-possession, for high-bred condescension to the ignorance and toleration of the weakness of others; for absolute equality to circumstances, and a certain grace, assurance and flourish of bearing, give me a clerk in a hotel. We may see Generals, poets and philosophers, indistinguishable from the common herd, but a true hotel clerk wears on his beauteous brow, and in his noble mein, the indubitable sign of greatness."

—The Manchester (N. H.) Daily Union says that at no time during the last thirty years, except a short time during the early days of the rebellion, has the cotton and woolen manufacturing business been in so depressed a condition. The mills are running at a loss in Lowell, Lawrence, and most of the other manufacturing towns in Massachusetts and throughout New England. The Manchester mills and print works have goods on hand unsold of the value of upwards of two millions of dollars. The same state of things exists with the Amoskeag Company. The Stark mills are said to have sunk $40,000 within a few months for the same reasons.

GENERAL NEWS.

—General Lee has been writing an essay on school discipline.

—Maine pays something like $80,000 for the privilege of not drinking.

—Savannah and Thomasville, Georgia, have been recently connected by telegraph.

—A New York paper publishes an account of a funeral under the head of "Out Door Sports."

—Several British sportsmen have arrived in Montreal, on their way to the Rocky Mountains for a summer's shooting.

—Horned snakes are reported to be quite numerous in the neighborhood of Wardinsville, Va. Four or five have been killed.

—A young lady of Charleston, S. C., died on Sunday afternoon from the effects of extreme heat. She had attended church that morning.

—A mulatto girl of nineteen, noted for her beauty and dissolute habits, committed suicide in Memphis by taking laudanum last week.

—The mortality from exposure is greater among the London police than in the British army. Dyspepsy and sore feet are the common complaints.

—Capt. R. E. Preston, one of the oldest citizens of Mobile, died in that city on Saturday. He had been a resident of the State for more than forty years.

—Who were the first newspaper subscribers of whom we have any account? Cain, who took A bell's Life, and Joshua, who ordered the Sun to be stopped.

—A smash-up on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, a few days since, which cost the company $30,000, was caused by a drunken engineer.

—Most of the gold now going to Europe is to pay the expenses of persons now traveling there, and it is estimated that they will spend $10,000,000 this season.

—Much attention is now being paid in the interior of Louisiana to the propagation of a new grass called the Hungarian, which yields two tons to the acre on bottom lands.

—There are now thirty producing sugar plantations on the Hawaiian group of the Sandwich Islands. The number of acres planted with cane is 10,166. The capital in the business is $2,000,000.

—On a terrace, at Portsmouth, England, past which the railroad trains rush with tremendous speed, the society for promoting the Gospel have caused to be inscribed, "Prepare to meet thy God."

—Ristori is not captivating the attention of the public as much in Paris as she did in the United States. She is performing to crowded houses but the press does not take much notice of her.

—Several communications have appeared in Memphis papers lately to establish the theory that Memphis is built over a subterranean lake. The arguments advanced are calculated to carry conviction.

—The rice crop in Louisiana promises to be unusually large this year, all accounts agreeing that the season has been very favorable thus far. It is possible that even in the Carolinas the crop may turn out better than was expected.

—Mrs. Hill of New York, has drawn in a raffle, the splendid snuff-box which Louis XVI, gave to Colonel Laurens, our first minister to France, and which destitution, caused by the war, had forced his descendant, a lady of South Carolina, to part with.

—In Paris, next month, in connection with the Exposition, a series of dog races is announced. The dogs to take part in the contest will be brought to Paris from all parts of the country, and the railroad companies have agreed to transport them at half price.

—A new channel was formed on the Missouri river, at Peru, Iowa, on the 5th instant, by cutting through a narrow neck of land, and shortening the route by twenty miles. By this cut off several thousand acres of land and the town of Hamburgh, Iowa, were transferred to the State of Nebraska.

—Elias Stokes, a former slave of Brice Stokes, of Andrew county, Mo., has sued a prominent and wealthy citizen of St. Joseph, who, he says, kidnapped and sold him South at the decease of his master, notwithstanding he had been emancipated and willed considerable property. The suit is for $100,000.

—A justice of the peace in Newark, N. J., divorced a couple last week, and later in the day married each pair to a new mate, so that the man has now two wives and the woman two husbands, though they do not understand it. The intelligent justice supposed that as he had the power to marry, he possessed the power to unmarry.

—The old Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church congregation of New York, recently presented their pastor, Rev. Dr. N. L. Rice, with a purse containing $25,000, and also one year's salary, $6,000. The Rev. Doctor has purchased a beautiful farm near New Brunswick, New Jersey, where he intends to reside for the remainder of his days.

—Thirty thousand enterprising young gentlemen in Ohio last year, promised to love, honor, and buy "things" for thirty thousand bright-eyed dames and damsels; and the thirty thousand dames and damsels blushed, and whimpered, and said they "never could go through the ceremony in the world," and then very quietly accepted their destiny.

—A fellow went a few weeks since, into the store of a fashionable milliner. "Have you any skirts?" asked he. "Plenty of all kinds." "What do you ask a cord?" said the chap. "A cord?" replied the woman. "Yes, I want about a cord. Up in our diggins the petticoats has gin out. I see ye advertise 'corded skirts,' and I thought while my hand was in, I'd take what you had corded up." The milliner fainted.

—The pay of soldiers in the British army, by proclamation of the Queen, has been increased by the addition of two pence (four cents) per day. A further addition of one penny per day is made to the pay of all men enlisting for a second term of service, in all regiments except the colonial, other than the Canadian rifles. This is a very small addition to the pay of the soldiers, yet hundreds of men have re-enlisted to obtain the advance.

—The returns for the first six months indicate that the total immigration for this year from Europe will be at least a quarter of a million. Much the greater portion of the immigrants are, as heretofore, Irishmen and Germans. With both these races political causes have operated largely. Political disability, rack rents and starvation in Ireland, and conscription in Germany have greatly contributed to this exodus.

—An irate editor condemns all honest society, because, as he says, some one has stolen from him a bar of "cast steel soap." A brother editor blames the reckless extravagance of his cotemporary in indulging in such luxuries as "cast steel soap," when cast iron soap would be just as useful for cleansing purposes, and could be worked up into jack-knife blades by the boys, who doubtless do the stealing complained of.

—Bishop Hopkins, of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Vermont, presiding Bishop of the United States, accompanied by his eldest son, the Rev. John Henry Hopkins, Jr., editor of the Church Journal, New York, will sail early in August from New York to attend the Pan-Anglican Council to be held in London, in September. By special invitation they will be the guests of the venerable Archbishop of Canterbury.

—General Kilpatrick has written a letter from Chili, to which Republic he is United States Minister, denying that he gets drunk, as has been charged, or that he ever drank a glass of liquor, either in Chili or in the army. The New Orleans Republican copies General Kilpatrick's statement and adds: "The writer of this paragraph campaigned with Gen. Kilpatrick, and can bear testimony to the fact that he uniformly refused to drink whisky or any other intoxicating beverage during that service; and to those who know him the charge that he is drunk every day is simply ridiculous."

College Commencements.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., July 31.—At the annual commencement of Williams College, forty-nine students graduated. Among the persons on whom were conferred the degree of L. L. D., were Senator Morgan, of New York, and Rev. Addison Ballard, of Detroit.

EASTON, PA., July 31.—The thirty-second commencement of Lafayette College took place to-day. The degree of L. L. D. was conferred on Wm. Strong of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. At the Alumni dinner, ex-Governor Pollock presided.

President Cottell announced that it had been determined to raise $200,000 additional for endowment, and that Thomas Bearer and Wm. Anderson had subscribed $10,000 each, and Mr. Parmee $8,000, on condition that the whole be made up within the year.

River Items.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, July 31.—River falling, three feet two inches in canal.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette via Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company.

OIL CITY, July 31.—River twelve inches and falling slowly. Weather warm and cloudy with occasional showers.

MEMPHIS, July 31.—River falling.

FIRST EDITION.

MIDNIGHT.

FROM WASHINGTON.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, July 31, 1867.

THE SURRATT CASE.

Mr. Merrick consumed the whole day without concluding his argument for the defense in the case.

RAILROAD INFORMATION.

The Commissioner General of the Land Office is taking measures to obtain accurate information in regard to the railways of the United States completed, projected and begun, for publication in the next annual report, in connection with the details of the immense land grants made by Congress in aid of the railway system.

DELEGATION OF PENNSYLVANIANS WAIT ON THE PRESIDENT—POLITICAL PROPOSITION.

To-day a delegation of Pennsylvanians, composed of J. R. Flannigan, John Welsh and H. R. Coggshill, of Philadelphia, N. P. Sawyer, of Pittsburgh, and Dr. Beavans, of Union county, as a Sub Committee of the National Union Central Committee of the State, representing the Conservative wing of the Republican party, waited on the President to inform him of the action of the Committee, which they state is on no condition to act with the Democratic organization, but propose to organize the Republican supporters of the administration on a platform, with candidates through the State, distinct from the other great political parties. The President, according to report, informed them that inasmuch as he had declared the people must be trusted with their own government, and his faith in the people had not been yet shaken, he could only say he left the issue of the hour in their hands. And as to the mode of the political organization of the people of a great State, he must leave it to the friends of both wings of his supporters; but trusted the true men of Pennsylvania would bury past political differences for the promotion of the common end, to wit: the early restoration of the Union, and preservation of the Constitution.

Congratulations were exchanged and the interview passed off very pleasantly.

ADDITIONS TO CONSCIENCE FUND.

The United States Treasurer received a letter to-day, postmarked Dubuque, Iowa, enclosing one hundred and fifty dollars, which the writer says was unjustly taken while in the United States service, for commutation of rations for a servant, when he had none.

Another party, from Indiana, returns one dollar, fraudulently obtained in his statement of accounts with the government.

MISSOURI STOLEN BONDS.

Various parties having forwarded to the Secretary of the Treasury the required proofs that they legitimately acquired possession of some of the $730,000 worth of Missouri State bonds, abstracted seven or eight years ago from the Interior Department, the Secretary has removed the caveat from the cases of these bona fide holders, and the interest of bonds held by them will be paid in New York, where the State of Missouri has deposited funds for the purpose. The Department acts separately upon all such cases.

INTERNAL REVENUE.

The receipts of Internal Revenue to-day were $789,770. Total for the month, $24,734,756.

RETURN OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE.

Chief Justice Chase has returned here.

FROM WASHINGTON, PA.

[Special Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., July 30, 1867.

This is Commencement Week at Washington and Jefferson College. The examination of classes began yesterday morning, and closed this afternoon. What we saw and heard of this examination satisfied us that the College is aiming to impart a sound and thorough education. Its course of instruction embraces three departments—Preparatory, Academical, and Scientific. The studies of the first and third, and of the first year of the Academical, are conducted at Washington; the remainder at Canonsburg. How this plan will work time must determine.

Rev. James Black, D. D., the Vice President of the College, resides here, and has this part of the College under his control. He is the right man in the right place. He governs to admiration, and in the recitation room he is perfectly at home. Teaching is his forte; he delights in it, and does it with a will. He is a favorite with the students. Yesterday the Freshman Class seized a fitting opportunity to give him a very pleasant surprise, and to put into his hand a token of their regard, which will doubtless prove to him increasingly serviceable at each subsequent year of his life. It is a beautiful gold-headed cane. It was worthily bestowed. The young men did themselves credit.

This evening at 7½ o'clock a large audience met in the First Presbyterian Church to listen to an address before the Students' Christian Association, by Rev. John Gillespie, A. M., of East Liberty, Pa. He found in the name of the Association his theme, and he discussed it fully and ably. He is a fine thinker and a very pleasant speaker.

To-morrow we shall have something further to report. AMICUS.

FROM SOUTH CAROLINA.

Republican Mass Meeting in Charleston—Columbia Convention Endorsed—A Magistrate Deposed.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHARLESTON, July 31.—A large Republican Mass Meeting was held last night, freedmen largely preponderating. Dr. Mackey presided. After several speeches, resolutions were unanimously adopted, expressing an unalterable desire to carry out in good faith and without reservation the Congressional measures looking to restoration, and endorsing the platform of the recent Republican Convention at Columbia.

General Sickles has dismissed Magistrate Seeley, of Columbia, from office for releasing on insufficient bail, without due regard for the gravity of the offense, Radcliffe and Bailey, the two men charged with assaulting and beating J. G. Thompson and W. J. Armstrong. The military have arrested the accused parties, who will be arraigned before a military commission at Charleston.

FROM GEORGIA.

Cotton Crop—Registration—Distinguished Citizen Dead.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

AUGUSTA, GA., July 30.—Accounts from the cotton crop are favorable.

SAVANNAH, July 30.—The number of persons registered in Clinton county is five hundred and eighty-four, a large majority whites. The number in Chaffee county is four hundred and fifty; Barnett, four hundred and thirty-one.

Hon. Henry Stevens, a distinguished citizen of Vermont, died last night, aged seventy-five.

Unfounded Report—Husband Murdered.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

FORTRESS MONROE, July 30.—The report that General Sickles had forbidden the exportation of corn from North Carolina, owing to the short supply, is unfounded.

A colored man, named John Page, and his wife, got into a fight last night in Norfolk. The woman seized a knife and plunged into her husband's breast, inflicting, probably, a fatal wound.

New Orleans Riot—Mass Celebrated.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, July 30.—Mass was celebrated to-day for the repose of those killed during the riot a year ago. The ceremony was in Mechanics Hall, the scene of the riot. There was but little demonstration on the subject by any class.

Accident to Assistant Secretary Seward.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

AUBURN, N. Y., July 31.—The wounds received by Assistant Secretary Seward, by the running away of a span of horses, are not of a serious character. He will probably be well in a few days.

North Carolina Crops.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WILMINGTON, N. C., July 30.—The general rains in this section have resulted in great benefit to the crops.

A counts from the country represent that the yield of wheat will be larger than at first supposed.

Caving in of a Wharf.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—Yesterday afternoon the wharf at the foot of Almond street, covered with hogsheads of molasses and sugar, gave way, letting into the deep water one hundred and twenty hogsheads, valued at $16,000. Three men were drowned.

En Route to Obtain Maximilian's Body.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BOSTON, July 31.—Among the passengers per China, which arrived last night, were Admiral Tegetthoff, of the Austrian navy, and his brother, Gen. Tegethoff, en route to Mexico to obtain the body of Maximilian.

Colored Veteran Appointed to Office.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, July 30.—F. M. Crozalt, Registrar of Births and Deaths, was removed to-day by Governor Flanders, and Severne A. Favre, a colored veteran of 1812, appointed to the position.

Frightful Accident—A Woman Killed.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., July 30.—A lady, named Ellen Kirk, was instantly killed this morning by her dress catching on the coupling of the main shaft of Gregory & Co's woolen mill.

County Treasury Robbed.

Carrying Out the Late Reconstruction Act—Assembling for the Convention.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

RICHMOND, July 31.—General Schofield has issued a general order, regulating the appointments to all vacancies, removals from office, etc., carrying out section 4th of the late reconstruction act.

A large number of delegates to the Convention arrived here this evening, and the streets are alive with colored delegates, all wearing the blue ribbon badge of the large Convention. A large crowd gathered around the Republican headquarters, where there have been four or five caucus meetings to-day to arrange matters for to-morrow.

RICHMOND, July 31.—Up to ten o'clock to-night about three hundred colored and one hundred white delegates to the Convention have arrived. Much interest is shown by the citizens in the proceedings of the Convention. Among the delegates are familiar ones in Virginia. The Carringtons, Watkins, Flourneys, Gardners, and other caucuses are being had at St. Carl's Hotel and Custom House, and at the former is being submitted Botts' address to the people. The blacks of the city will be at the Convention en masse, as they were invited to it by Mr. Hunnicutt, in his speech last night. The names of Botts, Huxhurst, McKenzie and Lewis are being discussed to-night for President of the Convention.

At a meeting of the ex-Federal officers to-night they adopted resolutions advising cooperation with all who strive for the restoration of peace to the country. Fifteen delegates were appointed to the Convention.

The Conservative caucus, to-night, approved Botts' platform. It favors the restoration of the great body of the people to their political rights, but urges the difranchisement of the more artful leaders. It was stated the platform had already been approved by the other wing of the party.

Confirmation of Executions—Feeling Unanimous for Juarez for President—Canales and Gomez Causing Trouble.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW ORLEANS, July 31.—Official accounts from Queretaro confirm the shooting of Vidauri on the 8th of July.

General Alvarez, by order of the Commander in Chief, had allowed twenty-six hours time for the individuals spoken of in the decree of June 21st, to present themselves as prisoners.

The Rancheros confirms the shooting of General Castillo, and other Imperial officers at Queretaro on the 9th.

The feeling is apparently unanimous for Juarez for President.

Canales and Gomez are causing great trouble in the Southern portion of the State of Tamaulipas.

A military commander of the line of the Rio Grande has been appointed, and Gen. Berriozabal will remain as military commander of the State. Forces are moving forward to be used in crushing Canales, Gomez, and other bands in the centre of the State. The force to garrison Matamoras will be two thousand men.

No Trouble Anticipated at the Election To-morrow—Cholera Reappearance at Memphis.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MEMPHIS, July 31.—No trouble is anticipated at the election to-morrow.

Cholera has again appeared in the southern part of the city. Six deaths occurred in one house on Mulberry street, last night, and five at one on Front Row. The Board of Health is taking energetic means to prevent the spread of the scourge.

NASHVILLE, July 31.—Arrangements for the preservation of peace to-morrow were completed to-day by the organizing of three hundred special policemen, and assigning them to duty. Col. Duncan will have command of the military, both regulars and militia. He was present at the installation of the special police, and made a short address, pledging co-operation with them in the discharge of their duties. Apprehensions of riot are generally quieted, yet within the past three days many fire arms have been sold.

The License or Whisky Court.

Messrs. Jonathan Neely, George Hamilton and Archibald Pillow, composing the Board of County Commissioners, and also vested with the power of granting license to sell liquors, held Court yesterday, in the Quarter Sessions room, to hear upwards of eighty-four license applications, which had been regularly made and all required forms complied with. About one half were new applications for taverns, or eating houses, (the same so far as regards the sale of liquor,) which have not heretofore been licensed, and in new locations, the altered law and the liberality of the County Commissioners, as compared with the course pursued by the Common Pleas Judges while the authority remained in them to grant licenses, affording encouragement to engage in the liquor traffic.

There was a pretty full attendance, each applicant being accompanied by one or more witnesses, and the saloons in the immediate vicinity of the Court House did a thriving business in providing "refreshment" for those who became wearied in waiting their turn on the list. The routine, or form of hearing applications, is the same which was observed under the operation of the old law. There is more sameness, however, and apparently not so close an investigation as to the "necessity" for the taverns or the "character" of the applicants. While observing the proceedings yesterday, a mode suggested itself to us by which the hearing of the applications might be materially shortened, made the work of a few moments, instead of the Board being required to hold two sessions in the day. The papers in the cases are previously prepared—petition setting forth the location and accommodations or capacity of the houses, with affidavit as to the amount of sales, bond, &c.,—and the clerk, calling some eight or ten cases, the applicants and their witnesses arrange themselves in line in front of the desk, and are sworn to make true answers. One case is then called, interrogatories are put and answered, then another, and so on until the entire list is gone through with. The interrogatories put are: 1st, location of house; 2d, size or number of rooms; 3d, as to its necessity; 4th, is the applicant a competent man, character good for honesty and sobriety These are answered in such a way as to indicate that the applicant had such a place, and that he was such a person, as came within the requirements of the law. And this is all, the Board taking such note or record of each case as may be of service in subsequently passing their judgment. Remonstrances, when any are offered, are reduced to writing, with the reasons set forth, together with names of remonstrants. We think at least no harm would result if a more summary mode of proceeding were adopted. The roll of applicants and their witnesses might be called, each man taking his position as his name is reached, and when say fifty have presented themselves, let them be sworn to make true answers. Then put the following inquiry: "Do you consider the houses each of you severally represent necessary for public accommodation?" Of course the reply will be in the affirmative; the applicant would certainly not say no, and it is not reasonable to suppose he would bring a witness who would not swear to suit him. Next ask, "How many rooms and beds are in the house?" The number indicated will certainly not be less than required. Other matters which might be inquired about are of record, such as the location of the house, which is given in the petition filed, and also whether the house was or ever had been licensed. Such a plan of proceeding would be no less farcical than that heretofore pursued, while it would save time and trouble both to the "Court" and the applicants.

It might, however, interfere with the legal fraternity, in cutting off their fees. And just here we have a bit of hypocrisy which it may not be out of place to expose. We have in our mind men, noted for their devoutness in the temperance cause, who, on suitable occasions, characterize the license law as infamous and denounce those who traffic in liquor, yet when their sincerity, dollars and cents considered, is put to the test, hesitate not to lend their influence, measured by the extent of the fee paid, to aid in circumventing the law to obtain license for improper houses. There may be nothing improper or particularly reprehensible in a lawyer, who is not "devout" in the temperance cause, in addition to charging a fee of ten dollars for "making out the papers," stipulating that in the event of the license being granted he shall receive the sum of one hundred dollars or more—which stipulation being assented to, his energies are bent accordingly—yet when a temperance advocate, professedly so, engages in such sort of business, we think the term reprehensible entirely too mild. In our opinion he is as bad as the worst grog seller. It would be well for our sincere temperance men, in their present efforts, not to admit to their confidence or patronage men who thus betray their interests.

The "Court" finished its business in the afternoon. We heard one member, Mr. Neely, state that the number of taverns had increased in East Birmingham to such an extent as to be the source of general complaint, and he intimated pretty strongly that no more would be allowed in that locality.

Sensation in Birmingham.

For some days past quite a sensation has prevailed in Birmingham, in that section of the borough next the hill, bounded by Washington, Denman and Grosvenor streets, concerning the alleged death of a child through cruel treatment. The story got out that the child had been obtained from the County Home, that the woman who had taken it in charge had subjected it to the most terrible cruelties, such as confining it in the cellar and garret for long periods without food, beating it unmercifully, and doing other things which we do not care to mention. It is a "talking" neighborhood, women live there who talk a great deal too much on all occasions, and when they obtain any sort of foundation for a sensation, fail not to take advantage of it. In this instance they had a rare treat, and how well they enjoyed it may be imagined. The death of the child referred to, on Sunday last, in connection with the "talk" previously indulged in, set the neighborhood in a blaze of excitement. Old women, and young ones, too, collected on the street corners, and with indignation pictured upon their countenances, in the hearing of their own dirty faced, neglected urchins, inveighed against the child-starver and murderess. More considerate, attend-to-their-own-business sort of people, excited by the furore created, went about determining as to the truth of the allegations in the proper way. The physician who attended the child in its illness, since the fourth of July, was called upon and stated in reply to inquiries that death resulted from natural causes, and that those who had the child in their care seemingly had given it proper attention during its illness. It might have been cruelly treated previously, and this might have caused its illness, but so far as he observed (who could know better) death did not result from violence. So ended the "sensation" with all except the "busy bodies," who are still reveling in horrible revelations.

The Middleton Murder—Closing of the Inquest—The Result.

The Beaver Argus says: The Middleton murder, which occurred in this county on the night of the 4th of November, and to which we have so frequently alluded in these columns, has now assumed another phase. The Inquest met from time to time after Middleton's body was found, but owing to the absence of important witnesses, deferred coming to any conclusion in the matter. These witnesses were last week brought to the stand, and after a patient hearing, and as thorough an investigation as the jury could give the matter, the following verdict was rendered:

"Thomas Middleton came to his death by acts of violence, at or near the mouth of Brady's Run, in Brighton township, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, on the night of the 14th or the morning of the 15th of November last; and that said acts of violence were committed by Thomas Burch, William Wike, John Stump, Washington Gordon, and James Farris."

In accordance with this conclusion, on Thursday morning last, James Farris was arrested while in Beaver, and on the afternoon of the same day Thomas Burch and John Stump were arrested between Rochester and New Brighton, while at work in a brick yard, and on the following day Washington Gordon was taken into custody while going from his place to Sharon. William Wike was arrested late on Friday night at Squirrel Hill, near Pittsburgh. The whole of these parties were brought to Beaver as they were arrested, and are now in jail awaiting further proceedings against them. The testimony against the parties named is said to be pretty strong, but at this stage it is impossible to say what the final result will be.

Ordination.

At Trinity (Episcopal) Church on Wednesday morning, Abel Kerfoot, son of the Bishop of the diocese of Pittsburgh, was ordained to the Deaconite. The solemn and impressive office for the ordaining of Deacons was observed. Beside the Bishop and the candidate, there were present ten Presbyters and Deacons, viz: Rev. Dr. Swope, of New York, (formerly Rector,) Rev. John Scarborough, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., (Rector elect of Trinity Church,) Rev. Dr. Preston, Rev. Dr. Richie, and Revs. Messrs. Slatery, Ten Broeck, Wilson, Fuller, McCandless, and Ely, of this diocese. The ordination sermon, preached by Dr. C. E. Swope, from St. Mark, VIII. 6, was an eloquent and able exposition of the Divine authority and sacred functions of the Christian ministry. The concluding part was an earnest and most touching address to the young gentleman about to be set apart to this ministry. Of this portion of the Rev. gentleman's discourse we hope to obtain a copy for publication.

Struck With an Axe.

The Franklin Citizen says: On Thursday morning last an altercation occurred between a young son of Mr. James Dempsey, of this place, and a man named Birdsall, in regard to a boat. Birdsall, who was in the boat, landed and going up to the boy struck him with the side of an axe on the head, knocking him into French creek. Seeing some men running to the spot, Birdsall fled to the woods. A warrant was issued but he has not yet been arrested. If Birdsall is caught, he should suffer the extreme penalty of the law, for this cowardly and brutal attack.

Birmingham Bridge Outrage.—A partial hearing was had yesterday before Mayor McCarthy, in the case of William McElravey and Alexander Brewerton, charged with outraging the German girl, Barbara Roan, at the Birmingham bridge, on Sunday night, the 14th ult. No new facts were elicited. The hearing will be continued this forenoon.

A Confidence Game—A Prison Bird Plays Preacher and Doctor, and Swindles the Charitable.

As matters now look we fear many of our charitable Methodist friends and good Knights Templar have been victimized to some extent through the operations of a confidence man. Some few weeks ago there came into the city a gentleman of genteel appearance, pleasing address and faultless manners, who gave his name as Dr. Ely, represented that he was in circumstances bordering on destitution, and appealed to the charitable for aid to enable him to maintain himself until such time as he could establish a practice here. He says he is a native of New York, graduated at Geneva College, in that State, and afterwards studied medicine under Dr. Mott. He further stated that he had removed to South Carolina, and was ordained as a minister in the M. E. Church South by Bishop Soule. He was a resident of Charleston when the war first broke out, and, according to his oft-repeated tale, had acquired a competence. When the "first gun was fired on Sumter," he fled from the South, leaving his family behind him, and on reaching New York joined the Union army as a private, although he had previously been offered a "Coloneley" in the Rebel army. He served throughout the war, as he stated, was taken prisoner, was confined in one of the horrible prison pens, endured all the sufferings inflicted on our brave men, and when released was reduced almost to a skeleton. He furthermore represented himself as a Mason, and sought assistance from the members of that fraternity. Being an excellent "talker," and with such documentary evidence as disarmed suspicion, he secured the confidence of a large number of persons, and was permitted to make appeals to several of the Methodist congregations in this city. In some instances he met with great success, after having rehearsed the troubles and tribulations through which he had passed; such as the death of his two children, from starvation in the South, while he was "fighting for the stars and stripes and the perpetuation of our glorious Union;" the confiscation of his property by the rebels; his efforts to earn a livelihood since his discharge; his patriotism in refusing a Coloneley in the rebel army, and such other things as were calculated to awaken the sympathies and open the pockets of the benevolent. He was also successful in his appeals to the members of the Masonic fraternity, receiving a considerable amount of money from them.

Yesterday the National Freemason, a New York organ of the Masonic order, came to the city with a full expose of the fellow, who, it appears, had been doing the Eastern folks in a similar manner. The article sets forth as follows:

"A person calling himself John Ely, alias Dr. Hunter, alias Dr. George Levi, but whose real name is George Levison, has been imposing upon the charities of the Masonic Fraternity for some months past. He represents himself as being Past Master of a Lodge in Charleston, S. C., which city he left the day on which the bombardment of "Sumter" was commenced, enlisting as a private in the Seventh U. S. infantry; as having been taken prisoner, and afterwards released by General Lee. Sometimes he claims to be a physician, at others a Methodist minister. By his ready answers to all questions he has succeeded in victimizing the fraternity in this city and vicinity to a considerable extent. He has also succeeded in exciting the sympathies of the Methodist congregations, (white and black) and has swindled them to probably as great an extent.

"All of his statements are false, and we have evidence that at the time he says he was a soldier in the United States army, he was serving out a three years' sentence in the Trenton, New Jersey, prison for bigamy.

"He has been followed up so closely that he has fled from this city. I have been instructed by the Masonic Board of Relief to communicate this information to the several Grand Secretaries, that they may take the necessary steps to prevent the Subordinate Lodges in their jurisdiction from being victimized."

This Levison is a man of genteel appearance, about fifty-five years of age, five feet nine or ten inches in height, mixed gray hair and a capital talker, calculated to excite the sympathies of all with whom he may come in contact. There can be no doubt but Dr. Ely is a swindler, a confidence man of the first class, and as he will probably be permitted to quietly depart from the city, we advise other neighborhoods to be on the lookout for him. He was shown the article in the Freemason, yesterday, but coolly suggested that some other person was traveling in his name.

Nitro-Glycerine Explosion—A Man Severely Injured.

At the Fort Pitt Works, yesterday morning about nine o'clock, there was an explosion of nitro-glycerine. Two men were engaged in breaking up a fly wheel for the purpose of recasting. The hub resisting ordinary efforts, it was determined to blow it to pieces with glycerine. This means also failed, the liquid not exploding, and they renewed the ordinary process. It was supposed the glycerine had been entirely emptied out, but this proved to be a mistake, although not more than a drop or two could have been left in the cavity. One of the men, Henry Smith, a machinist, was holding a cold chisel on the hub with both hands, while his companion was striking the chisel with a sledge hammer, when the two or three drops of the liquid gunpowder exploded with great violence and serious results. The hub and wheel were broken to fragments and several of the flying pieces struck Mr Smith on the hands, arms, breast and face, and lacerated these parts very seriously. He was also severely burned by the glycerine, his hands and arms to the shoulders, and his breast and face. One of his eyes was destroyed a long time since, and the other was seriously injured by the explosion. Dr. Burgher was summoned and attended the injured man's immediate necessities, after which he had him transferred to the Homeopathic Hospital, on Second street, where he now is, attended by Dr. McClelland, the surgeon in charge of the institution. The injured man is about forty years of age, and resides in Allegheny, where he has a family living. The other man was cut in the thigh by a piece of the iron, but only very slightly.

A Young Lady Badly Scalded.

The Huntingdon Journal says: A young lady named Amanda Dearmitt, employed as a domestic in the family of Mr. Major, residing on the corner of Church and Montgomery streets, in this borough, was terribly scalded on Tuesday morning of last week, by the upsetting of a boiler of scalding water. She was engaged in washing, and had put a boiler filled with clothes upon the cooking stove, in the basement cellar of the building, and in passing down stairs with her arms full of wood, by some accident she fell, and striking the vessel, upset it upon her person. Being unable to extricate herself, she was compelled to remain in the position she had fallen, with the clothes, saturated with scalding water, piled upon her. She gave the alarm, but some time elapsed before any one arrived to rescue her from her perilous situation, not knowing from whence the cries proceeded, her location in the cellar killing the sound and rendering it difficult to learn her whereabouts. When found she was lying with her face to the floor, and the scalding clothes heaped upon her back. She was badly scalded upon the shoulders and body, and her sufferings were great. Dr. Welstling was called, and did all that medical skill could suggest to alleviate the pain. She is improving slowly, but is still in a critical condition.

Burglary—A Ruse Fails.

About two o'clock yesterday morning Mr. Joseph Weaver, ticket agent at Sewickly Station, on the Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, was aroused from his sleep by some one knocking at his door and calling him. He got up, but suspecting something wrong, did not go out. He asked what was wanted, and was informed by men on the outside that there were burglars in the ticket office. Mr. Weaver still being suspicious, refused to go out and ordered the fellows to leave, or suffer the consequences. On going to the ticket office in the morning, he found that it had been broken open, and the books, tickets and papers scattered around in grand profusion, but there being no money or anything of value in the office nothing was taken. Mr. Weaver thinks that the object of the burglars was money, and failing none in the office they wanted to get him so as to enable them to enter the house. As he was unable to recognize the voice of the person who called him, this is probably the correct theory.

A grocery store belonging to a Mr. Howard, near the station, was also broken open and robbed of ten dollars in money and a considerable quantity of goods. There is no clue to the burglars.

Grand Celebration To-Day.

At Union Park, Allegheny City, will be held to-day a grand first of August celebration by many of our leading colored citizens, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to the benefit of Brown's A. M. E. Church. The arrangements made are of the most liberal character, and rare enjoyment will reward all who chose to attend. The refreshment booths of the Park will be occupied, while swings, flying horses, &c., will be in full operation. A grand tournament will take place, in which a company of heroic knights will engage in a manly contest for the honor of crowning the Queen of Love and three Maids of Honor. Our talented and esteemed fellow citizen, Prof. S. A. Neale, will be the orator of the day, and a number of other distinguished speakers will be in attendance to deliver addresses. Every body is cordially invited to attend and participate in the festivities. The object is praiseworthy, and we trust there will be a generous response to the kind invitation extended to the philanthropic community.

Surety of the Peace.

Thomas Jackson made information before Alderman McMasters, against George Haun good, for surety of the peace. The prosecutor resides on Second street, this city, and the deponent at No. 45 Monterey street, Allegheny. Jackson alleges that the defendant threatened to cut his heart out with a knife, and also to shoot him with a revolver. A warrant was issued.

Ann Driscoll appeared before the same Alderman, and made information against Julia Gaffrey, for surety of the peace. The prosecutor alleges that the defendant challenged her for a "pitched" fight. The parties reside at the corner of Logan and Webster streets. A warrant was issued and placed in the hands of an officer, who not only arrested the woman, but brought her, a dog and four children to the office. The dog and children were discharged, but Julia was held for a further hearing.

Explosion.—A woman named Mrs. Fair, residing in Wheeling, was severely burned Tuesday night, by the explosion of Carbon oil in a lamp, which she was carrying in her hand.

Frightful Accident—Man Scalded in a Sewer.

A man named Thomas Finnan, brother of the contractor of that name, met with an accident of a most frightful character yesterday afternoon. As we have already stated, an opening had been made at the corner of Smithfield street and Strawberry alley, for the purpose of putting a "drop" in the sewer constructed in the alley. The rain on Sunday washed a quantity of sand into the sewer, and carried it some distance down toward Liberty street. Finnan was employed yesterday most of the day in cleaning this sand out of the sewer. At about fifteen minutes before four o'clock in the afternoon, he was working near the place where the steam pipe from the lead pipe manufactory of Messrs. Bailey, Farrel & Co. enters the sewer, some sixty feet from the corner of Smithfield street. Suddenly, and without a second's warning, a torrent of scalding steam came rushing through the pipe into the sewer, enveloping the unfortunate man at once in a boiling cloud. With great presence of mind he immediately commenced making his way toward the opening at Smithfield street, and in spite of the suffocating vapor, succeeded in reaching it and extricating himself from his perilous position. He was at once carried into Eichner, Jonns & Co's drug store, on the corner of Smithfield street and Strawberry alley, and received prompt attention from Dr. E. Donnelly, who was summoned. It was ascertained that the sufferer was badly scalded on both arms as far as the elbows, on the breast, the neck, and the upper portion of the back, and on the feet. His sleeves were rolled up and his collar unbuttoned and thrown back, which accounts for the somewhat strange limitation of his injuries. So badly was he scalded that the skin dropped off the injured portions. His burns, though severe and causing intense suffering, are not considered dangerous. The injured man is of middle age, and resides at Port Perry, where he has a wife and four children. He was removed to Mercy Hospital. There must be culpable negligence somewhere—we will not pretend to say where—or scalding steam and a regularly employed man would not be in the sewer at the same time.

Peace Hath Her Victories.

One of those triumphs, as will be seen by reference to an advertisement in another column, has been gained by the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine, which in the conspicuous arena presented by the Paris Exposition, has been pronounced victorious over eighty two competitors! What stronger evidence could be demanded—what more convincing proof be given—of the superiority of this deservedly popular sewing machine! In a fair and open competition with all the sewing machines of any prominence in the world, impartial judges have awarded to the Wheeler & Wilson the coveted prize, the only Gold Medal bestowed on any sewing machine. The Gold Medal granted to Elias Howe was given to him as an inventor, and as such was richly merited. But out of four score competing machines, but one—the Wheeler & Wilson—received this proud distinction.

At home this invaluable household assistant is held in equally high esteem. From seventy to eighty machines a week are now sold from the agency in Pittsburgh. This remarkable success is due not only to the excellence of the machine, but to the energy and tact of the Western Agents, Wm. Sumner & Co., No. 27 Fifth street, where every person is invited to call and examine, whether desiring to purchase or not.

Alleged Pickpockets.

Tuesday night officer Frank Campbell, of the Allegheny police, arrested two young men, giving their names as Peter Gallagher and James Quinlan, having observed them, as he thought, operating at the pockets of a man lying on the sidewalk on Federal street, near the "Allegheny House." After lodging his prisoners in the tombs, the officer returned to look after the man whom he supposed had been robbed, and found him intoxicated to the extent almost of insensibility. His name was Jackson. Yesterday morning the arrested persons had a hearing before Mayor Morrison, but nothing was developed to warrant their being held for trial.

Notice to the Public.

The public will please take notice that at the Great World's Fair, held at Paris, 1867, the Wheeler & Wilson Manufacturing Company did not exhibit a Button Hole Machine as stated by the Howe Agent, but they did exhibit their unrivalled Sewing Machines with its crystal foot and Button Hole attachments, and received at the hands of the eminent jurors composing the committee, the only Gold Medal for perfection in Sewing Machines.

WM. SUMNER & Co.

Skiff & Gaylord's Minstrels continue to draw large and fashionable houses at the New Opera House. Their performances are of a first class order, and few companies so perfect and finished in all departments have ever visited our city. Each evening a new programme is introduced, and most laughable negroisms and scenes are produced. The universal verdict has been in favor of this company, and readers who fail to attend will miss a grand treat. To-night a great bill is offered, which embraces the choicest gems of music and inimitable negro performances. Go early if you would secure a choice seat.

Assault and Battery.—John Miller made information before Alderman Lynch, against Mark Wright, charging him with assault and battery. The parties are employed at Coward's brick yard, Boyd's Hill, in the Eighth ward. Miller works outside of the shed, and Wright inside. Wright had a bucket of water of which Miller attempted to take a drink, when Wright shoved him away from it. A warrant was issued and the defendant arrested, and on payment of the costs was discharged by consent of the prosecutor.

Perjury.—Eliza Bradley made information before Alderman McMasters, yesterday, against William Flinn, charging him with willful perjury. On the 23d of July Flinn made information against Eliza Bradley, swearing that she had administered poison to a sow and pigs, which Mrs. B. swears was a willful and malicious falsehood. She also makes information against him for surety of the peace, alleging that he threatened to knock her brains out with a stone. Warrants were issued for Flinn.

Alleged False Pretence.—Henry Schwan made information before Alderman Thomas, yesterday, against one Frederick Sobeliene for false pretence. Mr. Schwan alleges that defendant came to his store and bought $6,12 worth of hay, under the name of Smith. The bill was presented to Smith, when he denied the debt, and said he never ordered the goods. The defendant was arrested, paid the bill and costs of suit, and was discharged.

Wanted it Dated Back.—A fellow went into a city clerk's office, in Wheeling, the other day, to get a marriage certificate. After looking at the instrument awhile, he beckoned the clerk aside: "See here mister," said he confidentially, "can't you date the thing back about two months?" The clerk assured him that he could not. "Well," said he, "I don't care anything about it myself, but her folks rather insist upon it."

Accident.—A little son of Mr. Wolfgang Hebrank, of Greensburg, aged about ten years, was severely injured on last Sunday, near the railroad culvert, east of that place, by being struck with a large stone, rolled down the railroad embankment by a boy named McCoy. Both of his legs are badly bruised and cut, and faint hopes are entertained of his recovery. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of young McCoy.

Death of G. L. Drane, Esq.

We are pained to announce the death of this estimable citizen of our sister city, which took place yesterday morning at ten o'clock. The deceased was at one time postmaster of Allegheny, a position which he held with much credit and distinction. Latterly he had been employed as gate agent of the Fort Wayne Railroad, at the Federal street station. He quit duty several days ago complaining of diarrhea, from which he died. He was highly esteemed for many noble traits of character, and leaves behind him a large circle of friends and acquaintances to mourn his unexpected demise. The funeral will take place to-morrow at five o'clock from his late residence North avenue.

Slackwater Navigation.—The Pennsylvania Canal Company have recently made a survey of the canal and river from Harrisburg to Huntingdon, with a view of adapting the Juniata to slackwater navigation. The Lewistown Gazette thinks there is nothing in the way to prevent this from being carried out. Such a change would soon create steam navigation, at least for light draught boats. At a comparatively small expense, a channel from fifty to one hundred feet wide, and from two to three feet in depth, could be made by removing a few rocks and stones. It may yet be done.

The "42" Picnic.—The picnic held under the auspices of Division 42, of the Sons of Temperance, yesterday, was one of the most delightful of the season. It was largely attended, and was characterized by rare good conduct on the part of all present, adding much to the character of this popular branch of the temperance order.

Committed.—William Shorts, in default of three hundred dollars for his appearance at Court, was committed yesterday by Alderman Mullin, charged with malicious mischief on oath of Mary Rinkanbaugh.

JUDGES AND THEIR DECISIONS.

The New York Tribune makes some strictures upon the management of the current political canvass in Pennsylvania, on the Republican side, to which we do not assent, and which suggest the follow reflections:

Every man who has made himself familiar with Systems, either in the realm of abstract thought or of practical affairs, understands how a few elementary principles underlie and control a whole field of investigation or action. This is seen with peculiar distinctness in theology, physics, law, philosophy, and political economy. In each of these departments, it is not difficult to determine generally to what conclusions a man will arrive, provided you know what primal ideas he cherishes, and that his mind is so organized and drilled as to work easily and harmoniously with itself.

Take as an illustration of this, the discussions which have been held and are still progressing in respect to the National Constitution, and the rights and responsibilities of the different departments of the government under it. Great and irreconcilable diversities of judgment are apparent. In the main, these clashing opinions are honestly held; though many of the disputants would find it difficult to make a lucid presentation of their conclusions; much more to trace them up through the various streams to the fountains whence they flow. The embarrassment they experience in this respect arises from the fact that while they have conceptions of a System to which their opinions are related, those conceptions are misty and intangible, instead of being exact and clearly defined.

When President LINCOLN, upon the breaking out of the Rebellion, issued a requisition upon the States for seventy-five thousand troops, he was met with refusal by the democratic Governors; with cordial acquiescence by the republican ones. It would be to take a narrow and censorious view to affirm that the democratic Governors were actuated simply by party spleen. Results so uniform could hardly be produced by the operation of so low and fitful a cause. If the suggestion shall be varied, and the refusal be attributed to democratic sympathy with the Rebellion, the answer will not convey the final analysis, and so end the inquiry. The antecedent problem will remain unsolved, which is, how came the democratic party to be in such intimate communion and alliance with the insurrectionary movement? But one substantial explanation can be given. The democrats, with varying degrees of clearness and precision, hold certain views of the nature of the national government; the scope of its authority and the limitations thereto; of the inherent and reserved rights of the States; of the essential and inalienable rights of citizens and of the duties which are the necessary corollaries therefrom; of the manner in which these different classes of rights shall have expression; by what securities compassed about; and under what circumstances and to what extent they modify or strengthen each other. In essence these ideas are few and easily comprehended; but they ramify throughout the whole political system, analagously to the arteries and veins of the human body; or, rather like the nerves, which instinctively make their presence felt and inexorably assert their prerogatives.

Nor was this manifestation observable only among the Governors, whose function was in the main political. It was equally apparent among the Judges. When the question of the Constitutionality of the draft, alluded to above, came before the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, the Judges, with one exception, divided in judgment according to their respective party affiliations. This exception so far from disproving the rule we have propounded, tends rather to confirm it. Judges are not conspicuous for taking broad or exhaustive views. Instead of making excursions into new or distant fields, or anchoring upon abstract principles, they are prone by habit to become absorbed in details and to surrender their judgments to the dominion of precedents. Nor is this all. Men who have been subjected to long training of this sort are apt to accept principles without fully comprehending them; and when unexpected applications of them occur, in a case of vast magnitude, they start back affrighted, and at once give in their adhesion to the opposite system. It was in this way that many individuals, during the progress of the war, obtained revelations into political truths of which they would otherwise have remained all their lives in ignorance.

The accession of Judge AGNEW to the Supreme Bench, in the very nick of time, took Pennsylvania out of the category of resisting the draft on Constitutional grounds, and maintained its reputation for unswerving loyalty.

When the legality of the Legal Tender Act was called in question, the same phenomena were presented in the Courts of this Commonwealth.

Mr. SHARSWOOD started in the political school of Mr. JOHN C. CALHOUN. The records show that he evinced a nice appreciation of even the subtleties of the System wrought out by that gifted but malign statesman. He was not borne along by that species of magnetism which men of superior and mature powers often exert over impressible young men just commencing careers. Mr. SHARSWOOD was a disciple of Mr. CALHOUN because he comprehended him and accepted his teachings as true, and good. For a time, indeed, Mr. SHARSWOOD acted with the Whig party. We are not prepared to specify the motives that induced that temporary association. It is always difficult to detect motives, either in ourselves or other, whenever circumstances conspire to bias the reason, and that happens most frequently. Whether Mr. SHARSWOOD was actuated by ambition, envy, spleen, revenge, or any other of this group of propelling forces, in casting in for a time, his lot with the Whigs, we shall not undertake to say. It may be, against all suggestions of this sort, that his convictions really oscillated; that he came to a point in his reflections, at which he seriously doubted as to the accuracy of the System he had embraced; and that he inclined or went over to the other side. However this may be, it is certain the oscillation was of comparatively short duration. He returned to his first love, and with increased vehemence, as the natural consequence of the transient infidelity thereto. His judicial decisions all give consentent testimony to this effect. The inference, therefore, is not strained and unnatural, but direct and inevitable, that on all political questions which have not yet been before him for judicial determination, but which may hereafter arise, his mind will work to conclusions in accordance with the fundamental ideas which have guided it heretofore.

We do not see that either Mr. SHARSWOOD or his supporters ought to take offence at this imputation. It conveys no assault either upon his virtue, his intelligence or his experience. It simply implies that he will be true to himself, and to those correlated principles which make up his political system. As a CALHOUN democrat, wherever occasion shall arise, he can abstain from giving force and effect to the doctrines of that school, only by a species of mental prostitution which would involve shame, if it did not mount to the proportion of a crime.

Within the last six years many political questions have been brought before the Courts for adjudication that would not have appeared there but for the Rebellion. Other political questions are likely to seek the same arbitrament during the coming fifteen years, for which the Supreme Judge elected next autumn will serve. The injunction of wisdom and discretion is to put no man on the bench whose foundation doctrines are even tinctured with the heresies out of which the Rebellion grew.

OUR BOOK TABLE.

AN ARCTIC BOAT JOURNEY. By Isaac G. Hayes, M. D. Boston: Ticknor & Fields. Pittsburgh: For sale by Davis, Clarke & Co.

The first edition of this work was published in 1860, and prepared the way for the expedition the author soon after made, and which resulted, as he claims, in the discovery of the open Polar Sea. It was his intention to have made another journey northward soon after returning from this expedition, but the progress of the rebellion interfered with this design. Dr. HAYES, in an introductory letter to this edition, expresses the hope that the work may now be made to do double service by being made "to again advance his progress to the Hyperborea." The volume is handsomely illustrated with wood engravings, and the Doctor has supplemented the text with notes indicating the extent to which his discoveries sustained his expectations.

THE HOUSEHOLD OF SIR THOMAS MOORE. By the author of "Mary Powell." New York: M. W. Dodd. Pittsburgh: For sale by Davis, Clarke & Co.

This work was re-published in this country several years ago, but has long been out of print. Its merits, however, abundantly justify its re-publication now. The quaint style of expression, and the old manner of spelling prevalent four hundred years ago are closely followed, imparting to the narrative an air of reality which renders it difficult to realize that it was not actually composed at the era of events related.

A STORY OF DOOM, and other Poems. By Jean Ingelow. Boston: Roberts Brothers. Pittsburgh: For sale by Davis, Clarke & Co.

Miss INGELOW is unquestionably endowed with poetical abilities of a high order. Except Mrs. BROWNING, she takes the first rank among women who have been animated by the genuine fervor of poetry. In opposition to the prevailing tastes, she adheres to the natural bent of her genius, and displays a subdued stateliness and stern simplicity, imbued with intense thoughtfulness. Hence, she belongs rather to the intellectual than the emotional school. The present volume is an improvement upon her former one, excellent as that was in most respects; showing that she is not inclined to rest satisfied with what she has done, but is determined to develop her capacities by earnest toil.

JACQUES BONNEVAL, or The Days of the Dragonnades. By the author of "Mary Powell." New York: M. W. Dodd. Pittsburgh: For sale by Davis, Clarke & Co.

This story, though brief, is admirably told. Vivid pictures are presented of the suffering and persecutions which Protestants endured in France two centuries ago.

EUGENE ARAM. A Tale. By Sir Edward Bulwer Lytton, Bart. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott & Co. Pittsburgh: For sale by Henry Miner.

This is the third volume of the "Globe Edition" of Bulwer. The series will be completed in twenty one volumes; and has the advantages of being legible, portable and cheap.

RANDOLPH GORDON AND OTHER STORIES. By "Ouida," author of "Cecil Castlemaine's Gage," "Idalia," "Chandos," etc. Second Series. Pp. 381. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott & Co., 1867. For sale by Henry Miner, Pittsburgh, 71 and 73 Fifth street.

The main story, "Randolph Gordon," embraces about one-fifth of the volume, and the remainder seven quite readable stories. The writings of this author have heretofore met with quite a ready sale, and like the present work, are among the most popular and saleable books published. This volume will doubtless find many readers among the multitudes which are now enjoying the breezy atmosphere at the sea shore, and amid the peaks and nooks of the mountains. It is nicely printed, with clear, bright, easily reading type.

WOOL GATHERING. By Gail Hamilton, author of "Country Living and Country Thinking," "Gala Days," etc. Boston: Ticknor & Fields, Publishers. Pittsburgh: Davis, Clarke & Co.

The writings of this author are among the raciest and most radical of the present day. Many find fault with the extreme views of the author on some subjects, particularly of a social character, that are to be found in former publications. With all these over radical notions, there is so much to commend both in regard to style and matter, that one does not feel like finding fault. The volume before us contains some Western scenes, described in the most graphic manner. It is brimfull of rich and racy thoughts, tinted up with glowing words. It will richly repay any one to buy and read it. This well known progressive house has brought out the work in elegant style.

ALEC FORBES OF HOWGLEN. By George McDonald, M. A., author of "Annals of a Quiet Neighborhood," etc. New York: Harper & Brothers. Paper, pp. 171. Pittsburgh: Henry Miner, Fifth street.

This forms No. 294 of the Library of Select Novels by the Harpers. The writings of the author of the "Annals of a Quiet Neighborhood" needs no commendation, as that work has given him a fine reputation in the literary world.

HARPERS' WRITING BOOKS. Symmetrical Penmanship, with Marginal Drawing Lessons for Schools and Families. For sale by Henry Miner, Pittsburgh.

This series of writing and drawing books will embrace ten numbers, of 24 pages each, and is in the ordinary copy form. It commences with the rudimentary parts of penmanship and drawing, each succeeding number giving illustrations gradually advancing to the higher branches of these studies. The work is unique, and exceeds anything of the kind that we have ever seen. Full directions of both departments accompany each number.

PUBLICATIONS OF D. APPLETON & COMPANY, 443 and 445 Broadway, New York.

The publications of the series of books of Miss Muhlbach's pen, embracing "Louisa of Prussia, and Her Times;" "Henry VIII. and Catharine Parr;" "Joseph II. and His Court;" "Ferdinand the Great, and His Court;" "The Merchant of Berlin;" "Berlin and Sans-Souci;" "Frederick the Great, and His Family," have been very popular, and we believe have had ready sale. These enterprising publishers announce that they will issue on the 10th of August, "Marie Antoinette and Her Son," 8vo., the latest production of Miss Muhlbach. The romantic career of the beautiful and unfortunate Marie Antoinette and the Reign of Terror, are depicted with historical accuracy, and in the author's happiest style.

A Curious Story—The History of an East Tennessee Boy Who Went to Mexico, Became a Duke of the First Empire, Field Marshal of the Republic, Envoy to the United States, and General of the National Guard.

[From the Nashville Republican Banner.]

On the 12th of May, 1848, I reached Jalapa with orders for Gen. Lane, who was in command there. My quarters were in the little street Attilla, leading from the plaza, with Madame Mantoux, widow of a Frenchman who had served as a Colonel in the Mexican army. Just opposite was a rather showy dwelling, and a few days after my arrival a most imposing cortege issued thence. On inquiry I learned that the master of the house, Don Elaiza Persdonio Beran, Duke de Perrotte under the empire, field marshal of the republic and colonel of the guards during the first dictatorship of Santa Anna, had died and this was his funeral. He had been retired for many years, took no part in the pending war, and left an enormous fortune. When I add that he was born in East Tennessee, that his father and mother were plain people from North Carolina, and that his near relatives are scattered all over this country, you will perhaps be curious to know his history, and how he wandered so far out of the beaten track of his kith and kin, and especially the source of his wealth and titles. I will repeat the facts, as I learned them at the time, very briefly.

Elias P. Bean—for such was the original name of this dead old soldier of Mexico—was born near Bean's Station, and never quitted the immediate country round about until he was eighteen years of age. At that epoch in his career he started with his father and brother on a flat boat bound for Natchez, and loaded with whisky. The boat was lost, however, on the Muscle Shoals, and the father and brother concluded to return home, leaving Elias to proceed to the intended destination, where he had relatives. He reached Natchez after many adventures, and was warmly welcomed by his friends there. This was about the year 1797.

During the twelve or thirteen months he spent his time mostly on the river. He was a daring young fellow, fond of adventure and hazard, and soon got into the company of gamblers and horse-thieves. He learned to speak both French and Spanish; to cheat at cards; to bully and swindle the Indians; to make love and fight duels. In one of these he had the misfortune to kill his man, and was obliged to fly the "settlements." He did so with a gang of marauders under the famous Captain Nolan, whose name and adventures suggested the story of the "Man Without a Country." Nolan, however, was not a United States officer, and never was at sea in all his life. In fact, this expedition, on which Bean accompanied him, was his last. The party crossed the Mississippi, then the Red river, reached the Texas line, fought two or three battles with the Indians, (in one of which Nolan was killed,) and was finally, with all his plunder, captured by the Mexicans and carried to San Antonio.

Bean was released after a few months of confinement and given the area of the town as the limits of his prison. He became first apprenticed to a hatter, but being more skilful than his master soon set up for himself and grew to be very popular and fashionable. It was his determination, however, to return to the States the very first opportunity, and when he had collected a larger sum of money than he had ever had before, he attempted to escape. But he was pursued, overtaken, made captive again and carried back in disgrace. Two succeeding unsuccessful efforts caused him to be sent to the city of Mexico, whence he was remanded by the viceroy (it was before the separation from Spain) to the state prison at Acapulco on the Pacific coast.

Here he lay for five years, most of the time in solitary confinement. The record of his prison life, as written by himself, is as interesting as "Picciola." Instead of an herb, however, his companion was a lizard; and there was no such thing as a woman within the dreary walls that closed upon him. Once he made his escape and was recaptured, once he got up a conspiracy and was about to be shot, when—the commandant needing soldiers to resist an attack of the rebels under Morelos—he got off with his life and was put to military duty on the battlements. Two nights after this he carried the squad with which he was enrolled over to the enemy, making an embrazure behind him, and the "cross of Castile was lowered to the eagles of the revolution," as he quaintly expressed it. For this service Morelos made him a colonel and became his fast friend. He was soon after promoted second in command; and in 1814, five years later, was dispatched as envoy extraordinary. He brought with him young Almonte, (afterward the distinguished general,) who was an illegitimate son of Morelos, and put him to school in New Orleans. Soon afterward Morelos was made prisoner and executed, and Bean returned to Mexico. In all subsequent revolutions he bore a conspicuous part. He was minister of war to Iturbide, who made him Duke of Perrote; and when the empire fell quit the country and got to France. Recalled by Santa Anna, who made him General of the Republic, he once more acquired prosperity and influence, married a sister of General Arista, fought very successfully at Vera Cruz, retired in 1848 to Jalapa, and died, as I have described, in May, 1848, rich in years and Mexican honors and dollars. He was buried without parade, but in a most splendid and ceremonial manner, in the church of Guadalupe, of the convent of Corpus Christi.

IN LONDON, recently, a case occurred showing the danger of insufficient ventilation. A young man employed by the Great Western Railway Company had gone to sleep one night in a room of the Company, and was found dead next morning. It appears, from the facts elicited at the inquest, that the room measured only ten feet by twelve, and that it had four gas burners, two of which were lighted when the young man entered it to relieve a fellow clerk. The deceased had gone to sleep sitting on a bench, and becoming overpowered by the foulness of the air, from which all vitalizing properties had been extracted, he fell forward against a fender, and his neck striking the edge, he died of strangulation. A verdict of "accidental death" was rendered, but surely the company which furnished such a room for its employes to pass the night in was not guiltless of the young man's life.

CONVINCING.

FULTON, OSWEGO CO., July, 1866.

MESSRS. HOSTETTER & SMITH—Gentlemen: I have been severely afflicted with paralysis of the stomach, and even given up by several eminent physicians. I have tried several remedies of a tonic and stimulating nature, but without any good result. Some three or four months ago I was induced to try your STOMACH BITTERS, and have used about seven or eight bottles with a decided benefit. My health is greatly improved: and I consider your BITTERS the only efficacious remedy of their kind in the market. If used as directed they will always prove a sovereign remedy to those afflicted with dyspepsia and other diseases of a like nature.

Respectfully yours, LYMAN MUDGE.

HASTINGS, Dakota Co., Minn., Aug., 1866.

MESSRS. HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh. Gentlemen: I have sold your BITTERS ever since they were brought out, and consider them the best among the many before the public. Those brought out since the tax has been imposed on spirits are trash. I never recommend them.

Respectfully and truly yours, H. J. MARVIN.

COLON, St. Joseph Co., Mich., July 31, 1866.

MESSRS. HOSTETTER & SMITH—Gentlemen: I consider your BITTERS a sovereign balm for a thousand ails. Yours, truly, D. C. REYNOLDS, M. D.

CURE OF FISTULA.

DR. KEYSER: I write to thank you for your kindness and scientific management of my disease, for which I called to consult you some time in January last. You will remember that I had a complication of diseases, which finally ended in a terrible fistula, which I had been advised to "let alone" on account of a harassing cough, which it was feared might fasten on my lungs. I knew that the popular mode of treating diseases like mine was by a cutting operation, which if successful at all, would naturally throw the disease upon the lungs or some other vital organ, on account of the suddenness of the cure and the immediate check to a discharge which I was constrained to believe was a salutary provision of Nature to get rid of some a morbid condition in the system. I feel perfectly satisfied that your method of treatment, purifying to the system, and local applications to the fistulous part, must cure, if anything could, without cutting, which I find it did, and I am happy to report myself well in every particular, with sounder and better health than I have had for years. I would also add that the applications you made were almost painless, and have left me a new man, with all the energies and vigor of restored health.

Yours, gratefully, J—— C——.

Dr. Keyser's consultation rooms are No. 120 Penn street, from 9 A. M. until 4 p. m.

CAPE MAY, CAPE ISLAND.

Since the close of 1866 much enterprise has been displayed at this celebrated sea-shore resort. New and magnificent cottages have been erected; the Hotels have been remodeled; a drive with a well made one mile drive, have been inaugurated; and in all the essentials of a popular summer resort, a spirit of improvement is largely manifested.

The geographical position of Cape Island is in itself a popular feature, when properly understood—Situated at the extreme southern portion of the State, and occupying a neck of land at the confluence of the Delaware Bay with the Atlantic Ocean, it becomes entirely surrounded by salt water, hence favored by continual breezes from the sea.

The beach furnishes a beautiful view of the Ocean, Delaware Bay, and picturesque back country, taking in Cape Henlopen distinctly at a distance of sixteen miles. The beach is acknowledged to surpass any other point upon the Atlantic coast, being of a smooth, compact sand, which declines so gently to the surf that even a child can bathe with security.

Added to these attractions is the fact that the effect of the Gulf Stream upon this point renders the water comparatively warm—a point not to be overlooked by persons seeking health from ocean bathing.

The distance from Philadelphia to Cape Island is 81 miles by rail, and about 100 miles by steamer down the Bay, and by either route the facilities for travel promise to be of the most satisfactory character. The Island has Hotel and boarding-house accommodations for about ten thousand persons. The leading Hotels are the Columbia House, with GEORGE J. BOLTON as proprietor; Congress Hall, with J. F. CAKE as proprietor, and United States, with WEST & MILLER as proprietors, all under the management of gentlemen who have well established reputations as hotel men.

THE BANKERS' AND MERCHANTS'

SECOND

GRAND PRESENTATION

ENTERTAINMENT!

WILL POSITIVELY TAKE PLACE

SATURDAY, August 24, 1867,

IRVING HALL, NEW YORK.

This Grand Distribution of Prizes will be Conducted on the Mutual Benefit Principle.

A PRO RATA DISTRIBUTION OF PROFITS TO TICKET-HOLDERS!

Capital, - - $1,287,148.

TICKETS, ONE DOLLAR EACH,

And limited to One Million Two Hundred and Eighty-seven Thousand One Hundred & Forty-eight.

The Fairest and Most Impartial Plan of Presentation yet Offered to the Public.

A PRIZE WITH EVERY TICKET.

PROSPECTUS.

A number of the leading Bankers and Merchants of New York, in consideration of the great success which has attended many of the Charitable Presentation Entertainments of the day, have organized themselves into a company with the view of inaugurating an enterprise which, while it shall return them a fair profit, shall offer greater advantages to ticket-purchasers than any yet presented; and which, being conducted upon a perfectly legitimate and business basis, shall be free from those objectionable features which have characterized many of those enterprises.

To this end they have consigned the sale of tickets, and the registering of the same, to CLARK, WEBSTER & CO., Bankers and Managers, No. 62 Broadway, New York, who will keep the records in their custody until the day of the Grand Presentation Entertainment, when they will be handed over to a committee selected by the audience to make an impartial distribution of prizes.

A reference to the number of prizes and the general plan of distribution, given below, will convince even the most skeptical of the great advantages which will accrue to all who participate in the enterprise; and the Commercial and financial standing of the company, and the Managers and Bankers thereof, will, they hope, prove a sufficient guaranty of the fairness and impartiality with which everything in connection with the scheme will be conducted, and that the interests of ticket holders will be most strictly watched over and guarded. In fact, it is the desire of the Managers to conduct every transaction for the mutual benefit of whoever shall purchase a ticket, and scrupulously to avoid any and everything which could in the slightest degree diminish the profits which are likely to accrue to all who invest.

The Bankers' and Merchants' First Grand Concert was given on July 4th. It was a grand success. The mammoth hall was filled with the elite of the city. The audience appointed a committee of three of the leading bankers and merchants, to examine the corresponding numbers to the ticket and register books, to return their report to correct before making the grand distribution of prizes at the last Concert, on the 24th of August, 1867.

Immediately after the Grand Distribution, a list of the Presents awarded will be printed and sent to each ticket-holder.

Tickets, ONE DOLLAR EACH.

For sale at the Banking House of CLARK, WEBSTER & CO., 62 Broadway, New York, or sent by mail on receipt of price and stamp for return postage.

We can with safety guarantee those wishing to purchase tickets that they will be all sold by the 24th, and that the distribution of prizes will positively take place on that day. It will be advisable for those wishing to purchase tickets to order at once, so as to enable us to register them before the day of the grand presentation.

NOTICE.

TO SHIPPERS OF PETROLEUM.

The Allegheny Valley Railroad Company will, until further notice, transport promptly, from the present terminus of the road, at Brady's Bend, to the City of Pittsburgh, any quantity of Petroleum that may be offered, at 25 CENTS PER BARREL, and return empty barrels from Pittsburgh to Brady's Bend at 10 CENTS EACH. The track of the road is extended down to, and along the water's end, at Brady's Bend, so as to afford all necessary facilities for the convenient and speedy transfer of oil from boat to cars.

jy27:c77 H. BLACKSTONE, Sup't.

TO PLUMBERS AND GAS FITTERS.—Proposals will be received at JAMES ROBB'S shoe Store, No. 89 Market street, until THURSDAY, the 8th day of August, for the PLUMBING AND GAS FITTING required in the Keystone Savings Bank, on Liberty Street.

Specifications can be seen at the office of BARR & MOSER, Nos. 2 and 4 St. Clair street.

Pittsburgh, July 30, 1867. jy31:c82

THE PHYSICIANS TO THE BOARD OF HEALTH will be at the office of the Board, No. 175 Fourth street, EVERY DAY, between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of vaccinating those unable to pay.

jy26:c71 A. G. McCANDLESS.

ALLEGHENY GROCERY AND PROVISION COMPANY.

JOHN A. McGRAW, President.

J. P. ISRAEL, Secretary.

PRESENT OFFICE:

26 FEDERAL STREET,

ALLEGHENY.

This Company was organized and has for its object the cheapening of everything relating to family use; and, for this purpose, will open a store in a central location, and sell goods at the real cost of the goods, with a slight addition for expenses. The stock is divided into shares of $50 each. Only ONE DOLLAR A WEEK is to be paid until it is all paid up. The shareholders will receive their goods at their own doors from 34 to 60 per cent. less than they can buy at the regular sales of a retail store. Besides this, they will participate in the profits which are to be realized from selling at the regular retail rates to parties who are not holders of the stock. The stock is being rapidly bought up, and it is supposed the store can be opened up in 30 or 60 days. This is the poor man's chance, as he will be able to save twice as much in a year as he pays for his stock. Besides this, it is expected this stock will rapidly rise to 100 per cent. above par. There is only a limited amount now for sale, though many a poor man can yet get a chance to take a share in the profits, as well as get his groceries and produce at cost, even if he has only paid one dollar on it. Just think of it! you will go into a grocery store and spend $5, and $2 of it is clear profit to the storekeeper; whereas, by investing one of these dollars in this Company, you can save the other. By purchasing even one share of stock, instead of being a burden it will actually be a saving to you of from $1 to $5 per week, besides paying your weekly instalment on your stock.

The stock can be sold at any time for its full value, that you may need the money.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR PER WEEK

Is required on each share. This is a Savings Bank in which your profits are immediate and direct. You get your interest right in your hands, and a share of the profits at the end of the year.

Parties wishing to subscribe can do so at

No. 26 Federal St., Allegheny City.

Messrs. Burke & Barnes, Pittsburgh, Pa.

GENTLEMEN—We ship you, to-day, by railroad, a safe of your make, for a few repairs. The safe went through the disastrous fire that occurred here on the 6th of March last, burning our store and warehouse, and we are glad to inform you that the papers taken out of the safe after the fire were not harmed in the least. We did not suppose any safe, especially so small a size, could possibly stand such a fire, and when we discovered the papers all safe and sound, we were agreeably disappointed. We will give you an order for a large size safe when we get into our new store.

Truly yours, W. & A. J. PACKARD.

AUCTION SALES.

COUNTRY HOUSES AND LOTS AT AUCTION. Will be sold, on the premises, on THURSDAY AFTERNOON, August 1st, at 2½ o'clock, 20 acres of land, situated on the Evergreen road, about four miles from Allegheny Market, adjoining the lands of Mr. Kitchen, being a part of the old Nelson Farm, having thereon two new frame dwelling houses, each containing four rooms with good cellar, and a good spring of water at the kitchen door; is admirably adapted for gardening and raising grapes, having a fine southern exposure; about five acres are underlaid with coal; there is also a good vein of fire clay on the land. Will be sold in one, two, or four pieces, to suit purchasers. Conveyances will start from A. Martin's store, No. 1 Diamond, Allegheny, on day of sale.

jy29 A. LEGGATE, Auctioneer.

HOUSE AND LOT AT AUCTION—Sale on THURSDAY, August 1st, at 10 o'clock, the House and Lot on the corner of Beaver and Locust streets, Fifth Ward, Allegheny, (late Manchester.) The lot fronts 40 ft. on Beaver and 120 ft. on Locust, both paved streets. The house is a large frame of eleven rooms with gas throughout. There is a large stable and another building on the lot. There is a good well at the door. It has been used, for several years, as a public boarding house, for which it is well adapted. The location is excellent for business, being on the main thoroughfare. This property could be made exceedingly valuable by the erection of stores and dwellings. Especial attention is directed to the prospective advantages of this property. Possession given April 1st.

Terms—Two-thirds cash, balance in two years.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

The Social Evil—Is Rape Sufficiently Punished?

MESSRS. EDITORS:—What adepts we, as a nation, are in self gratulation! With what consummate skill we parade our self assertion! We are the most moral, most religious, the greatest, wisest, wealthiest nation on the earth's surface! Our laws are better and more firmly executed than those of any country in the world! To the two latter propositions I demur. Take as illustrative examples a few recent occurrences in our own city. A miscreant, bearing the form of a boy of seventeen or eighteen years, enters the residence of a respectable family, and finding only a little girl under eleven years of age within, attempts to violate her, and it was only by what might be regarded as a providential occurrence that the commission of the crime was prevented. Now had the crime been perpetrated, the evidence of so young a child would scarcely have had weight against him. A clever lawyer would have frittered it away. Besides, for this offense, the blackest in the whole grim catalogue of crime, our laws provide no adequate punishment; a few months, or as few years' imprisonment being its utmost limit; and his being a minor would have operated greatly against his conviction; taking at least as a criterion for future action the maudlin sympathy which has for some past usurped the functions of Justice in our courts and actuated her decisions.

It is quite probable, too, that an acquittal awaits the precious Market Constable, now out upon bail for a similar alleged attempt; as one of our city dailies has already hazarded the opinion of his innocence. He, who, according to his own shewing, "only chaffed and joked with the girl, nothing more!" Immaculate guardian of public morals!

Take, as another example, the horrible fate of the young girl who was dragged by six ruffians from the Birmingham bridge; a fate, which, shrink, and shudder, and recoil from as she would, she was tortured to endure; a fate a million times more hideous than death in its most appalling form; a fate which the human mind in horror shrinks from contemplating. The unutterable loathing of the physical system, as wildly, fiercely, madly, it struggles in futile efforts to escape the clutches of its more mercilessly cruel than fiendish tormentors. The horror shocks of the nervous system; amid its tortious writhings of terror and despair, no hope, no help, no succor; but to endure the last, the foulest degradation of woman; the climax of all infamous brutalities, till merciful insensibility relieved the tortured frame from the consciousness of its revolting degradation. And let not the fastidious exclaim that this is a subject which should not be approached; that it is too indelicate to be submitted to the consideration of the cultured and refined; that the poor contaminated victim should bow her shamed head in the dust and uncomplainingly submit to the jeers and contempt of the world; that world which she only yesterday, in the opening vista viewed so bright, so fresh and fair, to-day by no fault of her own, it becomes the object of obloquy and scorn; the stricken and defiled.

And oh, lady, reclining in thy velvet chair, amid thy luxurious surroundings, remember, that it is a fate to which the merest accident may subject even thee. And thou, oh father, with thy mines of gold, forget not that from the veriest casuality may ensue a similar fate for thy idolized daughter! And for all this horror and infamy, our laws apportion out a few months or years, as the case may be, imprisonment, should there be a conviction; of which there are nine chances to ten there will be none; or some evasive nominality. For there appears to be an almost universal tacitly conceded right to treat this crime with unsparing lenity. One of our Pittsburgh papers, with a suave graciousness, "hopes that the entire gang will be punished with the utmost rigor of the law." What a hateful significance do these words convey; the possibility, or even probability, that they should escape even the meagre penalty which the law does allow. Every feeling of pity, every dictate of humanity, of justice, imperitively demand that the severest penalty known to our code of laws should be meted out to this crime; and that it should be beyond the power of any man or any set of men to commute that penalty. For murder, our laws recognize death, or imprisonment for life; and how infinitely rather would a parent see a daughter struck dead at his feet than subjected to so revolting a degradation.

It is appalling to contemplate such brutal miscreants as ever again mingling with or beholding woman, nearer than through the grating of a prison's bars. In close proximity to whom should be assigned a location for the valorous knight of the Birmingham bridge, who so gloriously ensured his own safety by slinking away from his wretched companion.

SPENSER SHENSTONE.

Pittsburgh, July 30th, 1867.

A Vile Seducer.

Some three years since a young girl, about sixteen years of age, whose name we decline mentioning, came from the "rural districts" to the city to seek her fortune, and apprenticed herself to a fashionable dress maker, with whom she remained for eighteen months. During all this time she conducted herself in a proper manner, and had succeeded in gaining the respect and esteem of her employer. Having finished her apprenticeship, she was now in a situation to make a respectable living by her industry, and had she remained with her first employer all might have yet been well. But in an evil hour she was induced to leave the roof which had kindly sheltered her since her advent into the city, and seek her fortune elsewhere—a wrong step, as the sequel will show. She moved her quarters to another portion of the city, and 'ere many days had passed she met the man who worked her ruin. Having been reared and educated in the country until she was sixteen years old, and being of an unsuspecting disposition, unsophisticated and entirely unacquainted with the snares that infest paths over which her weary feet must tread, she was introduced to a man, (who shall be nameless,) who, by his cunning wiles and vile seductive arts, won her affections only to trample them under foot, after he had wearied of her charms. Being naturally of a confiding disposition, she loved him with all the fullness of her soul, "not wisely but too well," and like many others of her sex, without once stopping to inquire who this object of her adoration was, or what the consequences of such a step might be, she allowed herself to be led a willing victim to a life of shame. Yet not without an appearance of right was this accomplished. Her seducer, a black hearted libertine, already the husband of a loving and confiding wife, and father of four innocent children, professed to her to be a single man and represented himself as a steamboat engineer, told her tales of endless love, and asked her hand in marriage, which was readily granted.

The day was appointed, the arrangements made, and when the time arrived some kind of a mock ceremony was performed by some one representing himself to be a minister, unknown to the victim. She was taken to a respectable boarding house, where she was introduced as his wife, and after remaining there a short time, a pleasure trip was taken to Cincinnati. After returning he again secured boarding for her, alone, stating that his boat was about to start out, and he would be gone a week. At the expiration of the week he called and remained with her for a day or two, when another trip was taken, and he returned again. Thus matters went on, each visit growing shorter, and the time between them increasing, until finally they ceased altogether. Then for the first time did she realize her situation, and after numerous efforts to get some tidings of her truant lord had failed, she became sensible of the folly of the blind step she had taken. It was then that thoughts of laudanum, arsenic, hemp and razors were flitting through her frenzied brain, as was plainly evident from her manner and the many significant remarks upon death and the grave; but, so far as we are able to learn she has not attempted to reduce any of those thoughts to practice, but taking a more sensible view of the case has made an information against her supposed husband, charging him with abandonment and desertion. Thus ends the story but not the victim's disgrace, which is destined to follow her to the grave. Young ladies should think of the consequences of a step of this kind, and instead of casting themselves headlong into misery, disgrace and infamy, as too many do, they should carefully investigate the subject. A lady cannot be too careful in forming gentleman acquaintances.

The State Fair—Meeting of the Allegheny County Agricultural Society.

A meeting of the Board of Managers of the Allegheny County Agricultural Society was held yesterday at the office of Messrs. Phelps, Park & Co., St. Clair street. The following members were present: Messrs. Bockstoce, Brush, Oliver, Jennings, G. G. Negley, Hodgson, Young and Park, President pro tem.

Judge Park, from the Special Committee on the repair of trotting track at the Fair Grounds, submitted a report.

On motion of John Young, jr., the report was accepted, and the committee instructed to proceed at once, (if the Messrs. Zimmerman had not already commenced,) to put the track in proper order, at the cost of the Messrs. Zimmerman.

Judge Parke submitted a report from the committee appointed to collect money for the purpose of securing the location of the State Fair at this point.

On motion of Mr. Young, the report was accepted, and the committee instructed to obtain such additional subscriptions as may be necessary to close up the account. The committee were also instructed to have a list of the contributors to the fund prepared for publication.

The Chairman presented a communication from John Fraser Esq., President of the Agricultural College of Pennsylvania, announcing that the annual meeting of the delegates from the several Agricultural Societies throughout the State would be held at the College, on Wednesday, September 4th, and asking the Society to select three delegates to attend said election.

At this point Judge Parke retired, and J. F. Jennings, Esq., took the chair.

An election was then gone into for delegates to represent the society at the State Agricultural College, and Messrs. John Scott, of East Liberty, J. F. Jennings, of Allegheny, and Gen. J. S. Negley were elected. James Kelly, Esq., Wilkins township, a member of the Board of Trustees of the State Agricultural College, was also elected a delegate.

Mr. Brush offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of this Society are due, and are hereby tendered to Judge Parke, for his energy and untiring industry in making collections of funds necessary for the approaching State Fair.

The meeting then adjourned.

Abe Lincoln Lodge No. 22, I. O. of G. F.

At a meeting of the Abe Lincoln Lodge, No. 22, I. O. of G. F. held at their hall in Etna, on Monday evening last, the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing term: W. C. F., John M. Yahres. W. V. F., Miss Addie Davis. W. S., Mrs. Isabella Jones. W. A. S., Joseph D. Hunter. W. F., Miss Lizzie Love. W. F. S., J. W. Hughes. W. I. G., Miss Kate Griesmer. W. O. G., Chas. N. Howenstein. W. M., James Hunter. W. D. M., Miss Mattie Tyler. W. R. H. S., Miss Emma Danks. W. S. H. S., Miss Annie Sutter. W. Chap., Samuel H. Yahres. P. W. C. F., Samuel H. Sutter.

This lodge is in a very flourishing condition, and numbers some ninety or a hundred members. The regular meetings of Abe Lincoln Lodge are held on Monday night.

Monthly Fire Report.

The Superintendent of the Fire Alarm Telegraph reports that the number of alarms struck during the present month was ten. In striking the alarms, two hundred and fifty-seven blows were given on the big bell, and in striking the hours, two hundred and forty-eight blows were required. The largest fire of the month was that by which the Pennsylvania Railroad shops were burned on the fifth instant. The amount of losses and insurance have not yet been officially reported.

Blackwood's Magazine.—We have received from W. A. Gildenfenny, book seller and stationer, 45 Fifth street, the July number of Blackwood's Magazine. It is an unusually interesting number.

Fatal Accident.—At Marietta, Ohio, last Tuesday evening, a little daughter of Adam Heiser, was at a neighbor's, playing, where a part of an old roof that had been removed from a building was standing up as a protection against the sun, at a back porch. By some means it fell over upon the little girl, aged about six years, and crushed in the back of her head, broke her jaw, knocked out her teeth and killed her instantly.

Fire in East Birmingham.—Yesterday forenoon the straw house connected with the glass works of Bryce, Hartley & Co., East Birmingham, accidentally caught fire, and the contents were burned. The building being fireproof, was not materially injured. The Walton Hose Company were promptly on the ground and did efficient service.

Discharged.—Miss Maria Young, of Hollidaysburg, Blair county, charged with the murder of her father, was discharged from custody last week, a nolle prosequi having been entered by the District Attorney.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—The best Farm in Fairfield township, Westmoreland county, Pa., containing about 380 acres, situated six miles south of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Bolivar Station. The improvements are a large hued log house, with nine rooms, a good cellar, a frame bank barn, 40x70, with the best of stabling. Two apple and one peach orchard. The whole farm is under a high state of cultivation; the fencing is all No. 1; the soil is good, and is well watered; about 200 acres cleared, the remainder in good white oak timber. This property is offered at the low price of fifty dollars per acre. Possession immediately.

Also, a valuable Garden Farm, containing 80 acres, situated in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., on the Youghiogheny river, and near Elrod's Station, on the Connellsville Railroad, about nineteen miles from the city. The improvements are a two-story brick house with ten rooms, hall running through the house, with cellar; a No. 1 barn and other outbuildings. Abundance of the best fruits, of all varieties. Churches, Schools and Mills very convenient. Persons wishing to engage in gardening would do well to call and purchase quickly.

Also, a Farm of 140 acres, situated in West Wheatfield township, Indiana county, Pa., about 3½ miles from the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The improvements are—First, a two-story frame house, with five rooms, a large frame barn, 40x70, corn crib, carriage house, a good stone spring house and wood house. Second a two-story log house, a large frame barn, 40x70, a 1½ story frame spring house, and other outbuildings. The fencing is all good, abundance of limestone on the place, and coal but a short distance. Convenient to Churches, Schools, Mills, &c. I am authorized to sell this property very cheap and on easy terms.

Also, An excellent Farm of 160 acres, of which 95 acres are under cultivation, situate in Christian county, Illinois. Improvements—a new frame dwelling containing 5 rooms; about 400 choice fruit trees, good fencing, &c. It lies within 2 miles of the Illinois Central R. R.; will be sold on reasonable terms. City property taken in part exchange if desired.

Also, a Farm of 312 acres in Penn township, Westmoreland county, 220 acres cleared and under cultivation, 92 acres of first-rate white oak and other timber, 2 dwelling houses, 1 of them 2 stories, the other 1 story, with a tenant house, with a first-rate Steam Sawmill in good running order; young orchard of grafted fruit. The land is rolling; every acre is tillable, with limestone soil and subsoil, with never failing springs; within one hundred rods of the Penna. Central Railroad; 28 miles east of Pittsburgh, and three miles west of Greensburg. This farm is pleasantly and eligibly situated in a good neighborhood; every acre is underlaid with coal. The title is good.

Also, one of the best farms in Young township, Indiana county, Pa., four miles from Western Pennsylvania Railroad, at Livermore Station, containing 300 acres—225 cleared and under No. 1 fencing, the residue is good timber. The improvements are two frame dwellings, containing eight rooms each; a large bank barn, 50 by 50 feet, and other necessary outbuildings, in good order. Five acres of orchard of choice varieties of fruit; four foot vein of coal, (now open,) under all the land, and abundance of limestone. It is a good thriving neighborhood, convenient to churches, schools, mills, &c., which I am authorized to sell very low and on good terms.

A FIRST CLASS

FARM FOR SALE!

The subscriber offers for sale the farm on which he resides, in Brooke county, W. Va., three miles east of Steubenville, on the Washington road, two miles from the Ohio river, and two miles from the Panhandle Railroad. The farm contains

320 ACRES

Of land of the first quality, 250 acres cleared and nearly all in grass. The remainder is well timbered and has coal in abundance and plenty of running water, and is all under fence. The buildings are a large

Two-Story Brick House,

A good TENANT HOUSE, TWO LARGE FRAME BARNS, and abundance of stable room and shelter, sufficient for 600 sheep, and other necessary outbuildings, all in good repair.

There are TWO APPLE ORCHARDS of choice fruit, 75 CHERRY TREES, of choice kinds, and plenty of other small fruits.

This is one of the most desirable farms in the county, taking everything into consideration, and as a grazing farm is unequalled.

It is convenient to Schools and Churches of various denominations, and in a good neighborhood. This land is all tillable, and lies well for division into two portions if desirable.

SMITHFIELD, OHIO.

VALUABLE FARM

AT PUBLIC SALE.

I will sell to the highest bidder, on the premises, adjoining the village of Smithfield, Jefferson county, Ohio, on the

Fourteenth day of Eighth Month (August) Next,

The old homestead, formerly owned and occupied by the late Benjamin W. Ladd, containing 254½ acres, more or less, being one of the best farms in the county, a fair proportion of which is in good timber. The entire balance (except about 20 acres,) is well set in clover, timothy and blue grass. I will offer first the whole tract, reserving the privilege of then trying it divided in two tracts of about 127 acres each.

A small payment in cash will be required on day of sale, the remainder divided in payments easy for the purchaser.

Sale to commence at 1 o'clock of said day. Possession can be given to most of the farm on the day of sale, the balance about four weeks after.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY, July 31, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 139@140; Eighty-one bonds, 110½; Five Twenties, 1862, 111½; Five Twenties, 1864 109⅝; Five Twenties, 1865, 109½; Consols, 108¼; Seven Thirties, 107⅝@107½; Ten Forties, 102¼. Stocks—Erie Railroad, 76¾; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 93; Chicago and Rock Island, 103; Chicago and Northwestern, 50¾; Chicago and Northwestern preferred, 74½; Fort Wayne Railroad, 107; Michigan Southern Railroad, 82¼; New York Central, 106½; Reading, 107½; Western Union Telegraph Company, 47¾. Mining shares—Corydon, 1,45; Quartz Hill, 2,50; Gregory, 6,95; Smith & Parmalee, 5,95; Quicksilver, 34½.

Gold is dull and lower to-day, closing at 139⅞. Government securities are lower and dull with but few buyers. The high premium on bonds and the scarcity of money in the interior, offer inducements to sell out bonds and invest otherwise. The banks in the eastern cities are curtailing their discounts and call loans on stocks are withdrawn, a sign that high prices and cheap money can no longer be maintained there. The stock market is higher but feverish; the older houses have nearly all withdrawn from operations for long account, and cliques are forming for a bear movement. The moment the market betrays any weakness these parties will shower out their options and follow up by long contracts. Mining shares are dull and drooping. There is less excitement in oil stocks, and the local market is quiet.

—It is reported that the National Bank at Unadilla, in Otsego county, New York, has failed, with liabilities said to amount to $200,000. The bank was chartered about twelve years ago, under the old Safety Fund law of this State, and about two years since it took its national character, with a capital of $150,000, and power to increase to $250,000. Its officers were Arnold B. Watson, President, and Clark J. Hayes, Cashier. The President, it is said, owned $100,000 of the capital, and the balance was in the hands of the cashier and some relatives in Albany. It is reported that the assets of the bank will not go far toward meeting its liabilities.

The assignment of the Unadilla National Bank is a general one, and the institution is still kept open according to law, though doing no business. A receiver from Washington has been applied for, and will probably arrive in a few days. The owner of $20,000 of the stock in Albany is a son of Mr. Watson, the President of the bank. It is stated by the President and cashier that had the bank closed some months ago, something would have been saved; as it is the losses will, I am told, be total.

—The newly appointed receiver of the Newton National Bank, Mass., lately defunct, has collected the liabilities and forwarded the amount to Washington. The discount notes amounted to about $110,000, of which nearly $90,000 had been collected. The balance $10,000 is considered good, and $10,000 doubtful or bad, including in the latter category $2500 of forged paper of William H. Lane. The authorities having charge of the bank propose, in case it is wound up, to resist the payment of the checks obtained through the cashier, Mr. Dyer.

—The following dividends have been announced: The New York Central Railroad semi-annual 3 per cent; the Oriental Bank 5 per cent.; the Broadway Insurance Company 6 per cent.; the Gebhard Insurance Company 5 per cent.; the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad 4 per cent.; the Hazleton Railroad 3 per cent.; the Connecticut and Passumpsic Rivers Railroad 3 per cent.; the Buffalo and Erie Railroad 5 per cent., and the Morris Canal Company 5 per cent.

—A London paper of July 13th, makes the following announcement of failures: "The failure has been announced of Messrs. W. Brunner & Co., of New York, Manchester and Bradford, with liabilities estimated at about £ 00,000. Messrs Fairchild & Fanshaw, merchants in the American trade, have made a compromise of 10s. in the pound with their creditors."

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY, July 31, 1867.

CRUDE—The market was remarkably quiet to-day, but a single sale reported, one thousand barrels to be delivered between the 15th of August and the 15th of September, seller's option, at 14c. Spot oil may be quoted at from 12@12½c. and under the influence of the advices from New York and Oil City this afternoon, we should not be surprised to see an excited market and better prices to-morrow. A telegram from the last named place this evening quoted the market excited at $3,75 at the wells, which would be $4 strong at Oil City. The same telegram also stated that Cleveland buyers were "pitching in" pretty freely.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was also remarkably quiet to-day, though upon the reception of New York telegrams in the evening, there was considerable excitement, and buyers would have had to pay a considerable advance for the late months. Early in the day there were sales of two 500 barrel lots, for August, buyer's option, at 33, and 500 for same month, seller's option, at 32. Late in the day, sales were reported in New York at 35@35½ for September and October, and we should not be surprised to see these figures paid in this market to-morrow for Philadelphia delivery. The eastern telegrams, towards evening put the "bulls" on their feet again, while the "bears," poor fellows hadn't a word to say.

Cincinnati Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, July 31.—Flour 25c lower; dull—family $9,50@10,00; extra $9@9.25. Wheat dull and prices 10c lower, closing at $1,80 for No 1 red, and $2@2,10 for white. Corn dull at 75c No 1 in bulk. Oats dull at 70c for new, and 84c for old. Rye dull, closing with sellers at $1,10. Cotton unchanged, with middling uplands at 25@25½c—not much offering, but enough to meet the demand. Whisky dull at $2,30 in bond. Mess Pork in good demand at $24. Bulk Meats dull; shoulders were bought at 11¼c, but they are generally held at 11½c, and sides at 13½c. Bacon quiet at 12½@14½c for shoulders and sides, and 16c for clear sides. Lard dull, closing with no buyers at 12½c—the speculative demand has subsided. Butter in better supply, but prices unchanged; Central Ohio 18@20c; Western Reserve 21@22c. Eggs 16c. Coffee steady at 23@27c for Rio. Sugar firm at 12@15½c for raw, and 17⅜@18c for hard refined. Linseed Oil $1,38. Lard Oil 95c@$1. Petroleum 42@44c for refined free. Gold 139⅝ buying, and 140¾ selling. The money market is easy at 8@10—not much demand. Exchange steady. Weather dry and unseasonably cold at night outside the city. The thermometer was down to 55 deg. early this morning.

New York Dry Goods Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 31.—The dry goods market is generally dull, but there is no particular change to observe in prices. Woolen shawls are beginning to sell more freely at a discount of 5@10 per cent. below last year. Other kinds of woolens are dull and depressed. The convention of hosiery manufacturers, in session in Albany, to-day considered the propriety of the stoppage of all mills at once, as they are losing money.

Chicago Cattle Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, July 31.—Beef Cattle active at $7,25@7,75 for fair to good shipping. Hogs active and 15@25c higher; $7,05@7,15 for good to smooth. Sheep dull and unchanged.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
WEDNESDAY, July 31, 1866.

The general markets continue dull, with but little prospect at present of any immediate improvement. So far as regards prices there are no changes worthy of special notice, though, generally speaking the tendency is downward.

GRAIN—But little doing in Wheat; new crop may be quoted at $2.15@2,20. Oats dull and drooping; sale of 300 bush, on track, at 80c; 150 bush and 64 sacks at 78; and we are cognizant of one small lot being offered at 75c. Corn is quiet but steady with small sales of prime Yellow at $1@1,05. Rye may be quoted, in the absence of sales, at $1,35. No movement in Barley as yet.

FLOUR—Quiet and unchanged with a drooping tendency. Small sales of choice Spring Wheat brands at $ 1.75. New Winter Wheat is selling at $11,75@12, and fancy brands at $15@16. Rye Flour is dull at $8,25.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is quiet but steady with regular jobbing sales at 13¼@13½c for Shoulders; 15@16c for Ribbed and Clear Sides and 21½@22c for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard, is held at 13¼@13½c for prime kettle rendered. Mess Pork, $25@25,50.

POTATOES—Under the influence of increased arrivals, and a diminished demand, the market is dull and prices have still further declined. They were offered freely to-day at $3, and sales were reported considerable below that figure.

GREEN APPLES—Continue to meet with a good demand, and we can report regular sales at $4 to $6 per bbl, according to quality—but few sales at the outside quotation.

EGGS—Dull and irregular; 20c seems to be regarded as the ruling price, although one dealer reported having sold 7 bbls at 22c.

BUTTER—Continues dull but unchanged; small sales of prime fresh at 15@16c.

HAY—New Hay is selling at $16 to $20 per ton, according to quality.

OIL—Lard Oil is quoted firm at 85c for No. 2 and $1,05 for No. 1—manufacturers prides.

TO GLASS MANUFACTURERS.
THE UNDERSIGNED having secured the sole Agency for the sale of the celebrated
COPLEY POT CLAY,
Are now prepared to furnish it in any quantity to those wishing to procure this superior article. During fifteen years' use of this clay we have arrived at such proportions as we believe makes it a better article for pots than any in the market, we having secured an average stand of six months for each pot, and some lasting as long as eight and ten months. We will furnish receipts for the proportion of the mixture of this Clay to persons purchasing. The Clay is ground and moulded in lumps for delivery.

RIVER NEWS.

Capt. J. B. Conway, of the Silver Cloud No. 2, and Capt. Rees, of the Ida Rees, arrived at Cincinnati on Monday. Capt. Rees, it is reported, will load the Ida at Cincinnati for Arkansas river.

The Memphis Post says that city is experiencing "a commercial stagnation unparalleled in the history of the Bluff City."

An advertisement appears in the New Orleans papers, emanating from the Steamboat Captains' Benevolent Association, announcing that all the steamboats plying on the Mississippi and its tributaries, will charge twenty-five per cent. extra freight on all cotton not iron-tied and fully covered with bagging, leaving no lint exposed.

Government engineers have been for some days past engaged on the river at St. Paul, and also on the Minnesota river, in taking soundings, measuring the width, and ascertaining the rapidity of the current, for purpose of estimating the amount of water passing down.

The Dubuque Herald, of Saturday, has the following: The employees of the Northwestern Union Packet Co. are on a strike for higher wages. The roustabouts of the line are "on it," and want $40 a month. The Sheridan made a trip without help and could therefore handle no freight. Yesterday the Itasca's "bone and sinew" left, which threw the work of loading and unloading on the deck hands and mates, compelling the boat to leave salt and coal behind in the Dunleith depot. The harvest is progressing, and the men think they can do better than work for $30 and board.

Eighteen thousand dollars have been subscribed by Evansville and other places, for improving the lower Wabash, so as to make it navigable the present year.

The steamer Tom Jasper, now approaching completion at New Albany, is intended for the St Louis and Quincy trade, and is, in many respects, superior to any steamer in the line, as she is provided with all the modern improvements. The Jasper was built by the St. Louis and Quincy Packet Company, at Madison, Indiana, and was taken to New Albany in an unfinished state for completion. Length of hull, 250 feet; breadth of beam, 41 feet; floor, 36 feet; depth of hold, 6½ feet. The cylinders are each 26 inches in diameter, and 7 feet stroke, and are supplied by 6 five-flued boilers, 36 inches in diameter, and 24 feet long.

The towboat Rover, from St. Louis to Portsmouth, passed Louisville on Saturday, having six barges in two loaded with iron ore.

The Louisville Journal says: Gen. Weitzel and his corps of engineers have commenced the work of surveying a route on the Indiana side, with a view of making a report to Congress on the feasibility of building a canal around the falls of the Ohio. Several routes will be surveyed, and we may expect a more voluminous and detailed report than was ever made before on the same subject.

The wreck of the Pine Bluff, burned and sunk in the mouth of the Licking last winter, is being removed.

It is stated that Captain J. B. Coffman has arranged to sell the Carrie Williams, and will build another boat for the Cincinnati and New Richmond trade.

The Memphis Appeal, of Saturday, says: The John Kilgour passed up yesterday. Freights southern bound are plentiful at Cairo and St. Louis. The Mississippi left several hundred tons at the former place which she could not take. We learn that the wreck of the sunken gunboat Jeff Thompson is still visible. The officers in charge of the Gen. Totten claimed that they had entirely removed this wreck, and that in future it would not be, as heretofore, a terror to steamboatmen. As the water recedes the wreck becomes more prominent, and we hope that the Totten will make another effort to remove this obstruction, as well as the old hull of the Platte Valley. Captain Robt. Gibson, of the city wharfboat, arrived per last evening's train from Cincinnati.

ST. LOUIS, July 29.—The river continues falling. There is good water yet to Keokuk and St. Paul; falling from Keokuk down. On Friday it was stationary at St. Paul, and nineteen feet one inch above low water mark. On Saturday rising slowly at Dubuque. The decline in the Illinois continues steady. Missouri river falling, with still a fair stage of water. There is no competition to any point except the Ohio river and Upper Mississippi. Rates of freight extremely low, in consequence of no intimation of compromise to raise rates. Tonnage of all kinds in excess. The Belle of St. Louis lies up, and the Jacobs leaves to-day for Memphis. The Stonewall has abandoned the Missouri, and probably loads for New Orleans.

An Omaha telegram to the St. Louis Democrat, under date of Saturday, gives the following river items: From private correspondence I have the following items: The steamer Sunset was at St. Charles on the 15th inst. Her progress had been much impeded by sand bars.

Two colored boys were sleeping in the Trover's hull when the Ida Stockdale departed with the machinery of the Trover. They awoke to find themselves abandoned in the wilderness, without food or any means of defense. Ignorant of the country they started down the river hoping to overtake the boat. In attempting to cross a river, supposed to be the Little Muddy, one was drowned, on the 11th inst. The Sunset in moving a long up stream had the attention of her people on board attracted by seeing a man's hand waving a white hat above a thicket. The boat approached and found the survivor almost starved to death and nearly naked. He had traveled nine days without anything to eat, no sleep, his face literally raw by mosquito bites. His name is Frederick Good.

A St. Louis correspondent says the pilot of the Sunset is worthless. The boat twisted out of shape, encountering sand bars, but doubtless reached Benton safe. The Nile and Cornelia arrived this morning from St. Louis. The Nile went up to Sioux City, and the Cornelia returns to St. Louis. The Lady Grace arrived last evening, and went down again. The river is still falling. Annie Ward's receipts clear $294.

The St. Louis Democrat, of Tuesday, says: Some bets were lost and won on the late race between the Continental and towboat Yankee from St. Louis, one officer of the Atlantic line losing $220. The Yankee left this port four hours after the Continental and got to New Orleans two hours after. The Yankee left here at ten o'clock Saturday night, the 20th; arrived at her destination at nine o'clock Thursday night, 25th; time four days and twenty-three hours. She had in tow from Cairo one coal barge; also two barges containing 1,200 tons freight.
